THE CITY OF NEW YORK.

New York City, the first city of the Western Hemisphere in population, wealth, and commerce, and destined to be the metropolis of the civilized world, is situated on Manhattan Island, fifteen miles in length, and from one to two miles in breadth. On the west is the Hudson river, and on the east the East river, which latter is in fact only a strait connecting the Atlantic Ocean and Long Island sound; the northern boundary of the island is formed by the Harlem river and Spuyten Duyvil creek, two names for different portions of the same narrow creek, which unites the Hudson river with the East river. At the southern extremity of Manhattan island is the Bay of New York, universally acknowledged to be one of the finest harbors in the world. Standing on the Battery and looking south-east, the view is one of exceeding beauty, as well as of unsurpassed bustle and activity. Directly in front of the spectator, and about two-thirds of a mile from the city, is Governor's Island, a nearly circular piece of land, about half a mile in circumference, and containing seventy-two acres of land. It belongs to the Federal Government, who use it as a military station. It is a beautiful spot, sloping on all sides towards the water. Fort Columbus occupies the centre of the island, mounting 120 heavy guns. Castle William, a circular tower, sixty feet in height, and 600 feet in circumference, is on the north-west border of the island. It has three tiers of port-holes, and is well supplied with cannon. A battery on the south-west part commands Buttermilk channel, between the island and Long Island. A garrison is constantly kept up here. To visit this island, go to the South Ferry, at the foot of Whitehall street, and take passage in a small boat, numbers of which are constantly in waiting for that purpose. To the south-west, and about one mile and a half from the Battery, are Ellis and Bedlow's Islands, both of which are strongly fortified. Five and a half miles southward is the beautiful Staten Island, dotted from end to end with elegant residences and tasteful grounds and gardens. Looking eastward, the spectator beholds the city of Brooklyn, sitting proudly on its far-famed heights, and westward the Jersey shore, with Jersey City to the northward. With such natural beauty of location and remarkable facilities for commerce, what wonder that New York should have distanced all its competitors on the Atlantic coast or the new world?

HISTORICAL SKETCH.

Manhattan Island was first discovered by Jean Verranzani, a skilful Florentine navigator, whom Francis I. had despatched in 1524 to explore the coast of North America. As he did not stop here, the honor of the discovery of the island was awarded to Hendrick Hudson, a navigator in the employ of the Dutch East India Company, who, in a yacht called the Half Moon, entered New York bay in the fall of 1609, and subsequently sailed up the river which now bears his name. The name Manhattan is said to signify "the place where we all got drunk," and to have been bestowed upon the island to commemorate the festivities which took place on the first reception by the Indians of the white explorers under Hendrick Hudson. (It is not impossible that more recent visitors to the city may have recollections of convivialities of a similar nature.) The Dutch claimed the new territory by right of discovery : and a few years later a company was formed in Holland to encourage emigration hither. In 1625, a permanent settlement was made ; and in 1626, Peter Minuit, the Director of the New Amsterdam Company, purchased Manhattan Island for 60 guilders, or $24. On the 4th of April, 1652, a "burgher government" was established, and the city was then incorporated under the name of New Amsterdam. Twelve years later the English captured it and changed its name to New York, in honor of the Duke of York ; in 1673 it was recaptured by the Dutch, and its name changed to New Orange ; but a year later it reverted to the English by treaty, who held it until 1783, when the independence of the United States was established. At this time the population of the city was 23,000. In 1789 Washington was inaugurated as first President of the United States at the old city hall, the site of the present office of the assistant-treasurer of the United States, Wall street, north-east corner of Nassau street. Free schools were established in the city in 1797, and incorporated in 1805. In 1807 steam navigation was first accomplished on the Hudson river ; the first steam-ferry to Brooklyn was established in 1814 ; in 1817 the first regular line of packet-ships to Liverpool was started, and in 1819 the first savings-bank was opened. Gas was introduced into the city in 1825, and water from the Croton river in 1842. The first clergyman was Everardus Bogardus, and the first schoolmaster was Adam Roelandsen, both of whom arrived from Holland in April, 1633. In this connection is given the following table of census returns of the population of the city from 1653 to 1865 :

1653	1,120
1661	1,743
1675	2,580
1696	4,455
1730	8,256
1756	10,530
1774	22,861
1786	23,688
1790	33,131
1800	60,489
1805	75,587
1810	96,373
1820	123,706
1825	166,136
1830	252,589
1835	270,089
1840	312,710

The census returns of 1865 are universally acknowledged to have been inaccurate.

TOPOGRAPHY—LOCATION OF THE STREETS.

By referring to the map, the reader will see that the lower end of the city is very narrow, that the western shore of the island is free from indentations, while the eastern shore is quite irregular. The island rapidly widens from the Battery to Corlear's Hook, near the foot of Grand street, where it is about two miles wide. It maintains this width to Harlem, eight and a half miles from the Battery. Then it diminishes to less than a mile in width for the remainder of the distance to Spuyten Duyvil creek, thirteen and a half miles from the Battery. Broadway, which begins at the Battery, runs northward through the centre and highest portion of the island, as far as Tenth street, where it bends to the westward, and finally runs close to and nearly parallel with the Hudson river bank. At Twenty-third street, Fifth avenue crosses Broadway to the east and continues in a straight line along the centre of the island. On the eastern side, commencing at the head of Chatham square, and ending at Fourth street, the main thoroughfare is the Bowery, the widest street in the city. Below Fourteenth street the streets are somewhat irregularly laid out, this being the older portion of the city; but above that point the avenues and streets run at right-angles to each other, the direction of the former being nearly north and south, and the latter east and west, from river to river. From the commencement of Fifth avenue, at Waverly place, the streets are numbered from it in each direction, and are designated East and West, according to their position relative to the avenues, e.g., East Fourteenth street being that portion of the street between Fifth avenue and the East river, and West Fourteenth that portion between Fifth avenue and the Hudson river. Attention is called to this statement, as it is of especial interest to strangers, who, in the event of losing their way, have only to remember the facts mentioned to ascertain their bearings at once.

BROADWAY.

It would be impossible, in a book of the size of this, to take the reader through a minute exploration of the city, calling his attention to every point of interest. Only the more prominent can be mentioned, and perhaps the best introduction for a traveller visiting New York will be gained by a preliminary walk or ride from the Battery to Madison Square.

THE BATTERY,

Situated at the southern extremity of the city, is a beautiful crescent-shaped plot of ground, containing ten and a half acres, and covered with large shade-trees. It derives its name from being the site of the battery and ramparts of old Fort George. Years ago it

New York Stock Exchange,
No. 19 Broad Street,

was a place of resort for the citizens; now it is little else than an emigrant depot. On its edge stands Castle Garden, originally a detached fort, surrounded by water, and called Castle Clinton, in honor of the first republican governor of the State. It was built in 1807 by the Federal Government as a fortification, and ceded to the city in 1823. Subsequently it was converted into a place of amusement, and was the opera-house of the city, and the scene of Jenny Lind's first triumph in this country. The grounds of the Battery have been extended to it, and at present it is used as an emigrant depot, where foreigners, landing in New York and intending to settle at the west or elsewhere, are provided with tickets and started on their way without any unnecessary expense, and are protected from the swindling and thievery by which they were beset in former years. It is under the management of commissioners appointed and paid by the State. Nearly adjoining the Battery on the north is

THE BOWLING GREEN,

A small enclosure, around which were once the residences of the aristocracy. Prior to the Revolution it contained a leaden statue of George III., erected in 1770, which the people patriotically melted into bullets in July, 1776. Fronting this green, on the west, was formerly the "King's Arms Tavern," the headquarters of Gen. Gage, the commander of the British forces at the time of the breaking out of the Revolution; this tavern, it may be added, was built on the site of "Kriger's Tavern," the fashionable hotel of the earlier Dutch settlers.

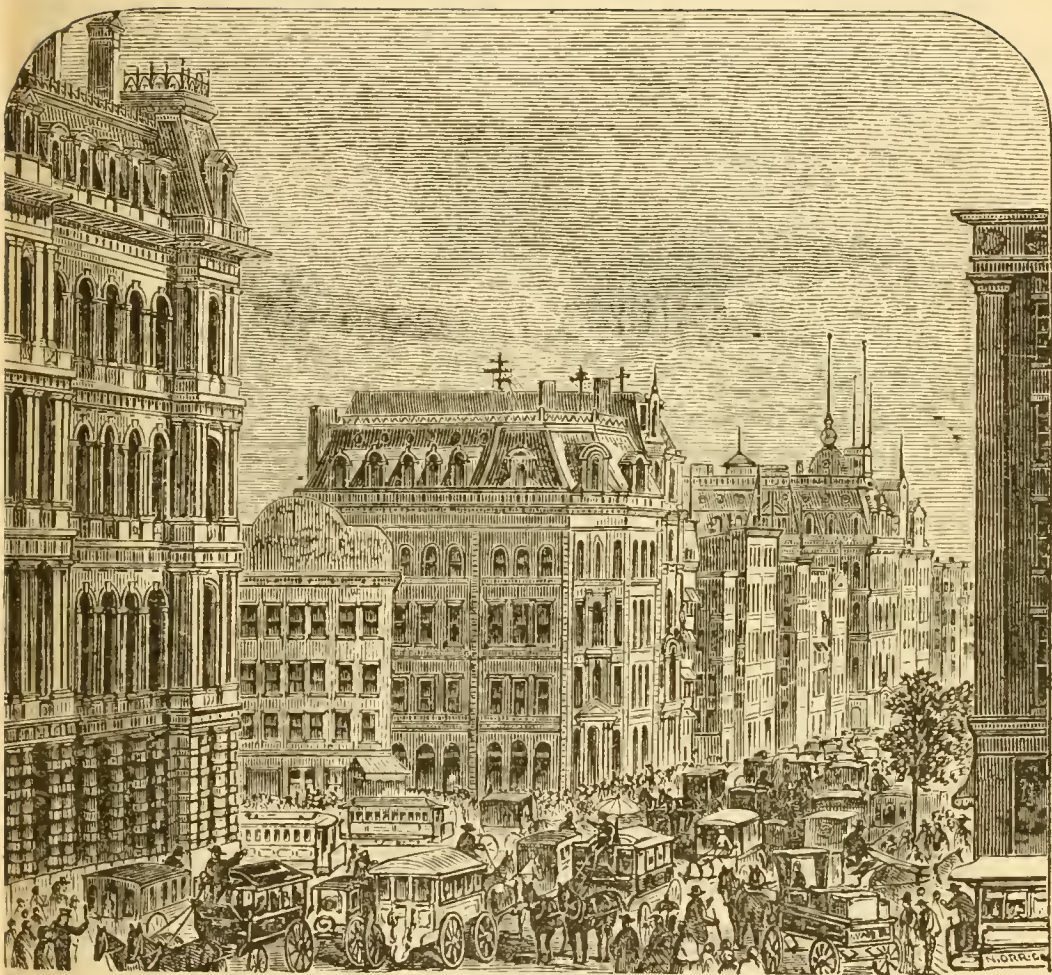

TRINITY CHURCH

The next building of special public interest is Trinity Church on Broadway, at the head of Wall street. The corporation is the richest and one of the oldest in the United States. In 1696 an Episcopal Church was erected upon the site of the old Trinity, which was enlarged in 1735, and again in 1737. In 1776 it was consumed in the great conflagration of that year, and rebuilt in 1790; the new church was torn down in 1839, and the present imposing edifice begun; it was finished in 1846. The structure is 192 feet long, 80 feet wide, with walls 60 feet high; the height of the tower and spire is 284 feet. Visitors may ascend by an easy stairway to the height of 250 feet, where a commanding view of the city and bay can be obtained.

ST. PAUL'S CHAPEL.

Still strolling along, we come to St. Paul's Chapel, on the western side of Broadway, between Fulton and Vesey streets. It was built in 1766; its length is 151 feet, its width, 73 feet, and its steeple is 203 feet high. In a niche in the front of the church is a white marble statue of St. Paul, and in the front part of the niche is a slab to the memory of Gen. Montgomery, who fell at Quebec, and whose remains were removed to this city in 1818. Directly opposite St. Paul's Chapel is the new building erected and occupied by the New York Herald. It was opened for occupancy on the 1st of May, 1867.

The highly ornate white marble structure on Broadway next below the Herald building is The Park Bank. It was built in 1868, at a cost of about $2,000,000, and is one of the most elaborate specimens of composite architecture in the city.

Broadway, New York,
LOOKING SOUTH FROM BARCLAY STREET AND THE NEW POST OFFICE.

THE CITY HALL PARK.

We have now reached the City Hall Park, or the Park, as it is usually called, since, next to the Battery, it was the first enclosure of its kind on the island. Until 1780 it was without the limits of the city, and was called the "Commons," or the "Fields." It was here that the first brigade of the American army was assembled to hear the declaration of independence, July 9, 1776. As may be seen by the map, it is nearly triangular in shape, and bounded by Park Row and Centre street on the east, Chambers street on the north, and Broadway on the west. It covers about ten acres, and in it are the City Hall, the new Court House, the Hall of Records, and the Rotunda.

THE NEW POST-OFFICE,

at the lower end of the Park, will be, when completed, the finest structure of its kind in the country. Its architecture is of the renaissance order, and its interior accommodations are calculated to meet the demands of the postal service for many years to come. The building, throughout, is constructed in the most substantial manner.

THE CITY HALL.

This is the southernmost building in the park, and is one of the finest specimens of architectural beauty in the country. It was nine years in building, and was finished in 1810 at a cost of $583,734. It is 216 feet long, 105 broad, and 65 high. At the celebration of the completion of the first Atlantic Telegraph, in 1858, the clock-tower was consumed by fire, but was speedily replaced. The mayor has his office in this building, and here the boards of Aldermen and Councilmen hold their regular meetings. A special place of interest to strangers is the Governor's room, on the second story, wherein may be found portraits of many distinguished statesmen, and the desk on which Washington wrote his first message to Congress. In the aldermen's chamber are the chairs used in the first Congress, and in the mayor's room is the chair in which Washington was inaugurated first President of the United States. Northwest of the City Hall is the

NEW COURT-HOUSE,

The eastern wing of which was opened for the first time in the spring of 1867 for the accommodation of the Court of Appeals, the highest tribunal in the State, which for several years previous had sat in Albany. This building, begun in 1861, is 250 feet long, and 150 feet wide, and when completed will be surmounted by a dome 170 feet high. Its estimated cost was $1,500,000, but more than that sum has already been expended upon it. When completed, it will be one of the finest buildings in the city. A little to the east of the New Court-House is the

HALL OF RECORDS,

A stone building, originally the city prison, then (1832) a cholera hospital, and subsequently remodelled for its present uses. The British once used this as a provost jail for the confinement of American prisoners captured in this vicinity. Here Nathan Hale was incarcerated prior to his execution on the site of what is now the United States Marshalls office in Chambers street, directly in the rear of the Park. The next building of interest is

New York Historical Society,
Second Avenue, corner of Eleventh Street.

THE ROTUNDA,

A circular edifice, just south of the north-east angle of the Park, which is occupied by the Croton Aqueduct Department. It is 54 feet in diameter, and was erected in 1818 by John Vanderlyn, the noted painter, for the exhibition of panoramas. Upon his leaving this country, to reside in Europe, the building was purchased by the city. The two brown stone buildings in the rear of the Rotunda are occupied by sundry courts, and municipal officers.

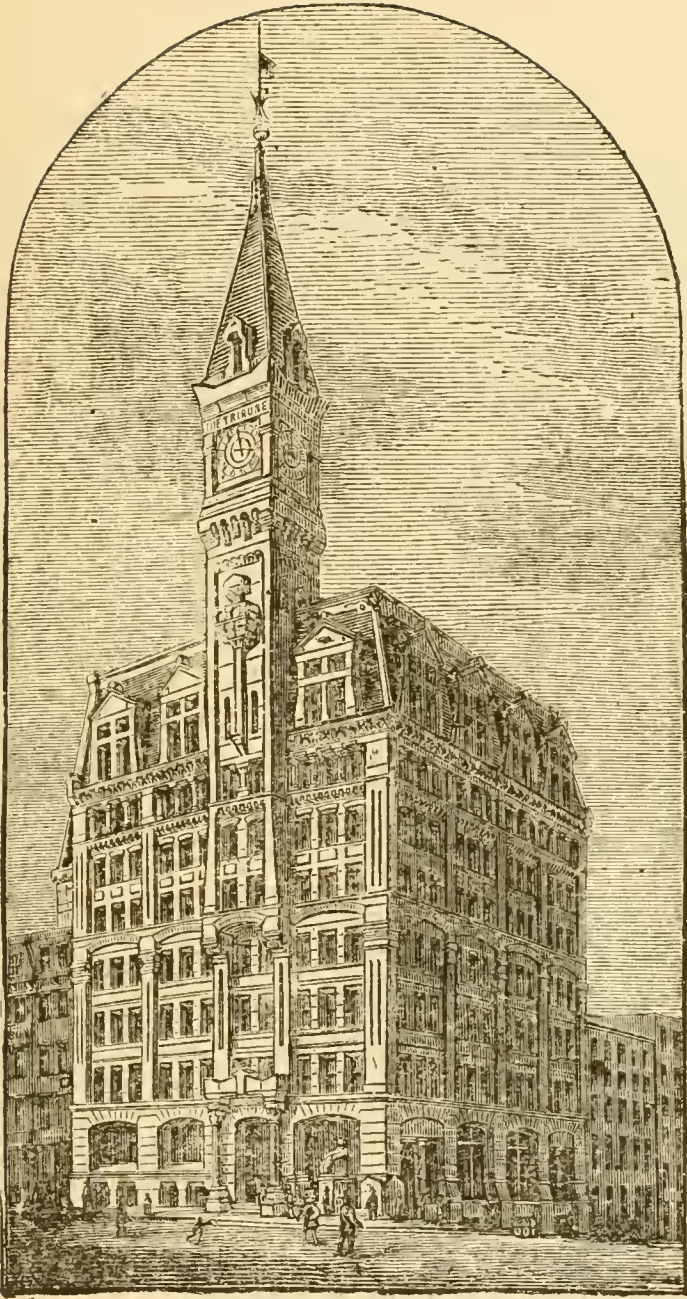

THE BUILDINGS AROUND THE PARK,

Are of quite as much interest as those within it, mainly by reason of the historical associations which cluster about the grounds upon which they stand. The triangular block bounded by Park Row, Beekman and Nassau streets, is the site of the old Brick Church. The church was erected in 1767, was used by the British soldiers as a prison, and subsequently as a hospital, in 1776; it was torn down a few years since, and the congregation erected a new edifice on Fifth avenue, corner of Thirty-seventh street. The site of the old Brick Church is now occupied by the Times and World buildings, and just above them, on Printing House square, are the Tribune building, and on Park Row, between Beekman and Ann streets, was the old Park Theatre. This was built in 1798, burned in 1820, rebuilt and reopened within a year afterwards, and again burned in 1849, when its site was covered with warehouses; it was the theatre of the city in its day, and was the scene of the first performance of the Italian opera in this country, in 1825. At the corner of Ann street and Broadway, where now stands the new Herald building, was the old American Museum, the first marble-front structure erected in the city; it was built in 1824, in 1840 was purchased by P. T. Barnum, and was burned in 1865. The Astor House, occupying the entire block on Broadway between Vesey and Barclay streets, was built nearly thirty years ago, and for a long time was the leading hotel in the city, and was always the favorite stopping-place of Daniel Webster. On the upper corner of Broadway and Barclay street was the American hotel, a noted public house, but used for business purposes many years prior to its destruction by fire in 1865. The elegant free stone front building, which was built in 1866 upon the site, is occupied by the North America Life Insurance Company, and other offices. At the north-east corner of Broadway and Chambers street is Stewart's marble store, now used exclusively for the wholesale branch of Mr. Stewart's business. In olden times the site was the negro burial-ground of the city. Directly opposite, on Broadway, was the Irving House, for a long time the hotel of the city; a portion of the old hotel building is now occupied by one of the four restaurants kept by the Delmonico brothers, whose fame has extended not only over the United States, but to England as well, and within two years a restaurant company has been incorporated in London under the name of the "Delmonico Restaurant Company."

FROM THE PARK TO UNION SQUARE.

As we continue our walk up Broadway, the first object of interest above

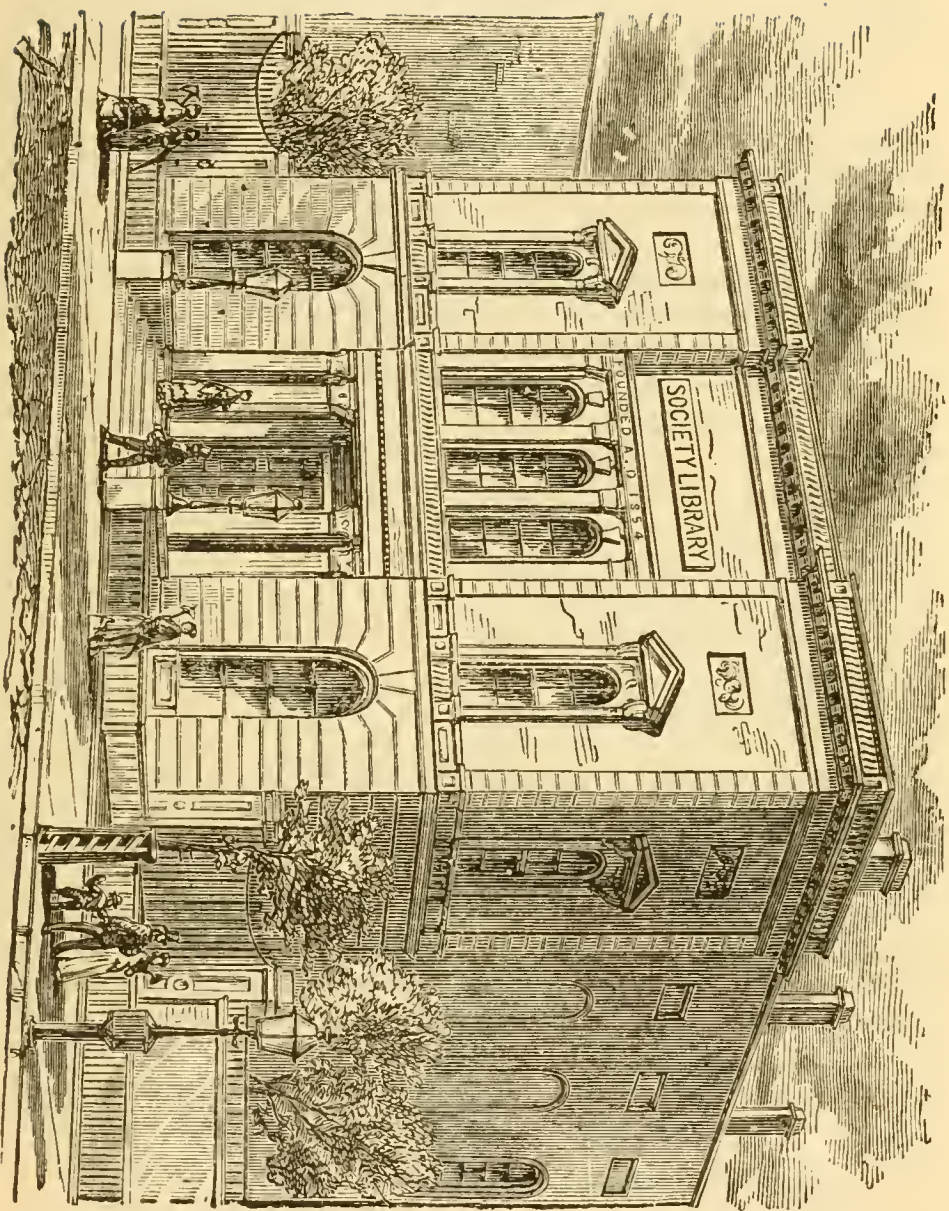

The new Tribune Building.

the City Hall Park is the NEW YORK HOSPITAL, on Duane street, a short distance west of Broadway. Only one building now remains where once stood a noble and stately pile surrounded by lofty elms and occupying the greater part of the square. The corner-stone of this institution was laid on September 12, 1773, but before the building was completed it was partially consumed by fire; in 1783 the British used it for barracks for their soldiers, and it was not until 1791 that it was formally opened as a hospital. In 1807 a Lunatic Asylum was erected on the Hospital grounds, but in 1821 the patients were removed to a new building at Bloomingdale. The Hospital was always admirably conducted, but as its sphere of usefulness increased its own resources were insufficient for its support, and for a number of years it received aid from the State. In 1868 it was decided to lease the property and remove the Hospital to Bloomingdale. The ground rent of the property lately occupied by the Hospital affords an ample income for the present necessities of the institution. On the east side of Broadway, between Pearl and Worth streets, stood the Broadway Theatre, the scene of Edwin Forrest's earlier triumphs in this city; and on the block above, on the same side of the street, was the old Tabernacle, in which, for so many years, were held great religious meetings. Both these places are now gone, and their places occupied by stores. On the same side of Broadway, between Catherine Lane and Leonard street is the magnificent marble building of the New York Life Insurance Company. The groups of statuary over its portico and surmounting its façade are noticeable features of architectural elegance. Between Broome and Spring streets, on the western side of Broadway, is the St. Nicholas Hotel, erected in 1854, at a cost of $1,000,000; and the large brown stone building on the eastern side, between Prince and Houston streets, is the Metropolitan Hotel, which was built at a cost of $800,000. The large iron building occupying the block between Ninth and Tenth streets, is Stewart's retail store, and the imposing white marble edifice directly across Tenth street is Grace Church. It was built in 1845, and cost $145,000, an enormous sum for that time. A few steps more bring us to bounded by East Fourteenth street on the south, Fourth avenue on the east, East Seventeenth street on the north, and Broadway on the west. In the centre of the Square is Union Park, an oval enclosure, filled with trees, and containing a beautiful fountain. The imposing equestrian statue of Washington in the south-eastern part of the Square is the work of Mr. H. K. Brown, of Brooklyn. It is fourteen feet high, and mounted on a granite pedestal of the same height. Its cost was $30,000, which sum was contributed by forty-six gentlemen of this city. The statue weighs four tons, and the metal of which it is made consists of eighty-eight parts of copper, nine of tin, two of zinc, and one of lead. The lofty iron building on the lower corner of East Fifteenth street is the jewelry store of the Messrs. Tiffany. It occupies the former site of the "Church of the Puritans," of which Dr. Cheever was for many years pastor. The Church is rebuilt on Fifty-third street, the same stones being used which composed the original structure. The yellow building on the north-west corner of Seventeenth street and Fourth avenue is the Everett House. Still continuing up Broadway, we come to

MADISON SQUARE,

Bounded on the south by East Twenty-third street, on the east by Madison avenue, on the north by East Twenty-sixth street, and on the west by Fifth avenue and Broadway, which two latter thoroughfares here cross, as has already been noted. This is one of the newest public squares in the city, having been as late as 1845 an open common; it covers ten acres. The Fifth Avenue Hotel, which occupies the entire block on Broadway between Twenty-third and Twenty-fourth streets, is built on the site of the famous hippodrome, which was opened in 1853. A fine ornament to the square is the monument to Gen. Worth, erected at the intersection of Broadway, Fifth avenue, and Twenty-fourth street. On the corner of Madison avenue and Twenty-fourth street is the Madison Square Presbyterian Church, Rev. Wm. Adams, D.D., pastor. The white marble structure on the south-east corner of Madison avenue and Twenty-sixth street is the Union League Club-house, built by Mr. Leonard W. Jerome.

PUBLIC BUILDINGS.

A number of the leading public buildings in New York City have already been noted; there remain, however, others of equal importance. We begin with the

CUSTOM HOUSE,

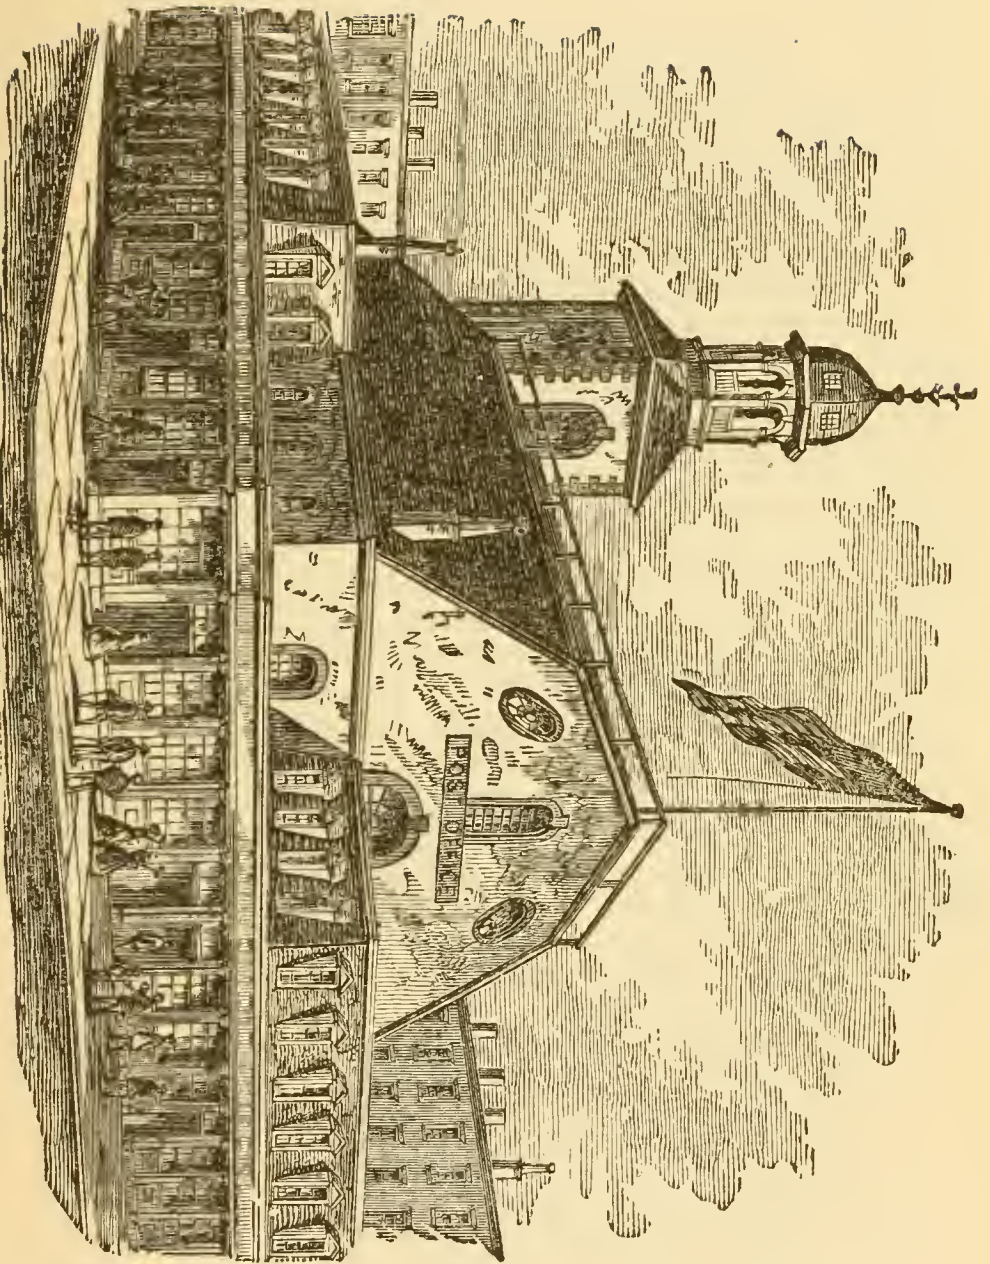

Which occupies the old Merchants Exchange, having been purchased by the Federal Government during the late war for \$1,000,000. It is located on the block bounded by Wall, William and Hanover streets, and Exchange place. The building, which was erected upon the site of the Exchange that was burned in 1835, is 200 feet long by 171 wide; its height is 77 feet to the cornice, and 124 feet to the top of the dome. On the front is a portico in which are eighteen Grecian columns, 38 feet high, and $4\frac{1}{2}$ feet in diameter at the base, each of which is formed from a single block of granite, and weighs about forty-five tons; their cost was \$55,000; that of the building, including the ground, was \$1,800,000. Open to visitors from 8 A.M. to 5 P.M.

THE U. S. TREASURY AND ASSAY OFFICE,

On the corner of Wall and Nassau streets, and running through to Pine street, is a massive white marble building, 200 feet long, 80 feet wide, and 80 feet high, which is modeled after the Parthenon at Athens. At either end is a portico supported by eight Doric columns, 32 feet high, and 5 feet 10 inches in diameter. The cost of the building and the ground on which it stands was $1,195,000. Open to visitors from 10 A.M. to 3 P.M.

THE POST-OFFICE.

This was formerly the Middle Dutch Church, and was finished in 1726, three years having been occupied in building

Old Post Office.

it. In 1776 the British tore out the pews and used them for fuel, preparatory for the confinement of American prisoners; when no longer needed for that purpose they converted it into a riding-school for their cavalry. In 1784 it was refitted as a church, and continued unaltered until 1844, when it was purchased by the United States Government for a post-office, for which it will be used until the new post-office at the lower angle of the City Hall Park is erected. The present location is on Nassau street, between Liberty and Cedar streets.

OFFICE HOURS.—The post-office is open continuously night and day, except on Sundays, when it is open from 9 to 10 A.M., and from 12½ to 1½ P.M. The Money Order Department is entered from Cedar street, and is open from 10 A.M. to 3 P.M. on week days. There are five deliveries each day by carriers. Collections are made from each and every lamp-post box (585 in number) six times a day. On Sunday but one collection is made at 8.15 A.M.

THE STOCK EXCHANGE

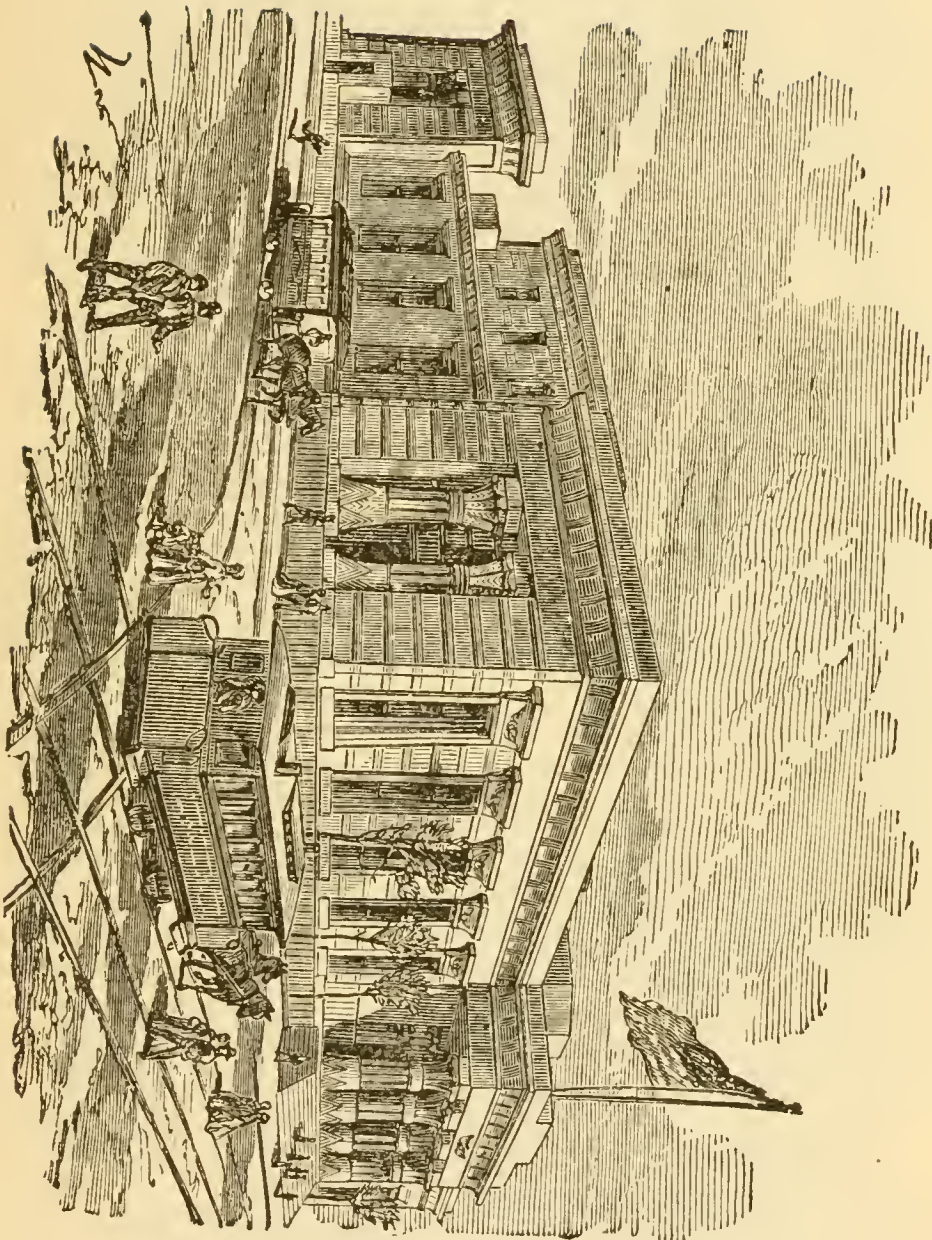

The new Stock Exchange is a magnificent white marble building on the western side of Broad street, just south of Wall street; it runs through to New street, and has an L-fronting on Wall street. It was opened in 1866, and is acknowledged to be the finest building for the purpose in the country.

THE HALLS OF JUSTICE AND CITY PRISON.

This building, fronting on Centre street, covers the entire block bounded by Centre, Leonard, Elm, and Franklin streets, and was completed in 1838. It is of Maine granite, and in the Egyptian order of architecture. From its gloomy appearance it is popularly known as “the Tombs.” Its form is that of a hollow square; in the front are police court-rooms, and fronting on the square within are cells to the number of 173. There is a wing from the main prison which is used as a prison for females. Within this enclosure State criminals convicted in this city of capital offenses are executed. The building is opened to visitors from 10 A.M. to 3 P.M.

THE POLICE HEADQUARTERS.

This building, situated on Mulberry street, between Houston and Bleeker streets, and running through to Mott street, was occupied December 19, 1862; it is 70 feet wide by 187 feet deep, and is five stories high. It is of Westchester white marble, and of a simple style of architecture. It contains rooms for the Police Commissioners, the General Superintendent, the Detective force, a room for the trial of policemen, and all the conveniences necessary for the central office of the Metropolitan Police. In the basement are a number of cells in which prisoners are temporarily confined.

THE ASTOR LIBRARY

Is situated on the eastern side of Lafayette place, near Astor place. The late John Jacob Astor founded it with an endowment of $400,000, which sum has been materially increased by his son, William B. Astor. It contains over 100,000 volumes, many of which are very rare, and is open to all persons over sixteen years of age, for consultation only, from 10 A.M. to 5½ P.M. in summer, and 4 in winter.

THE MERCANTILE LIBRARY.

The library of the Mercantile Library Association, founded in 1820, is located in Astor place, at the junction of Eighth street, a few steps east of Broadway. It was formerly located in Nassau street, but a few years since the Association purchased the Astor Place Opera-House for $140,000. This was the scene of the Astor-place riot, in May, 1849, on the occasion of the performance of "Macbeth," by the English tragedian, Macready. The reading-room of the Association is the best, and the library one of the largest in the city: both are open to all persons upon the payment of a small sum annually—three dollars by clerks, and five dollars by all others.

THE COOPER UNION

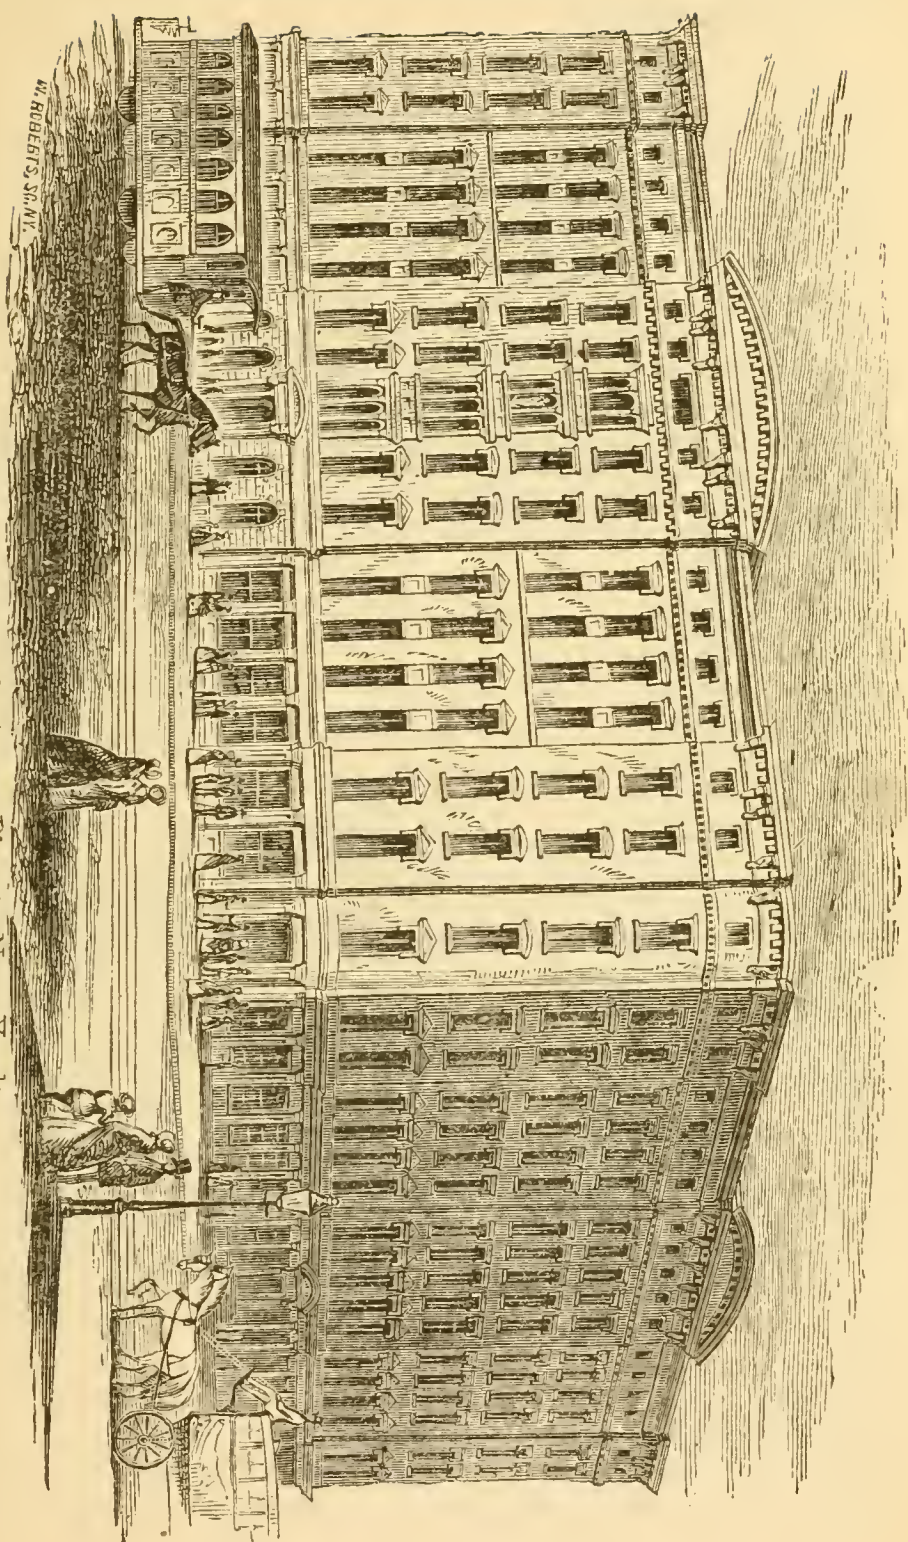

Occupies the block bounded by St. Mark's place (Eighth street), Fourth avenue, Seventh street, and Third avenue. It was erected by Peter Cooper, Esq., a few years since, at a cost of $630,000, and is under the control of a Board of Directors. It contains a very large and well supplied reading-room, a library, art gallery, and a number of instruction and lecture rooms, all of which are free to all who choose to avail themselves of the advantages therein offered. A portion of the building is rented for stores and one large hall and several small ones are let for public meetings; the annual income from these sources is about $50,000. The building is of brown stone, and is five stories high. In the building are the rooms of the

AMERICAN INSTITUTE,

Incorporated May 2, 1829, for the purpose of encouraging and promoting domestic industry in this State and in the United States, and in disseminating useful knowledge relative to agriculture, commerce, manufactures, and the arts and sciences. Annual fairs, on a grand scale, are held in this city, and large sums of money distributed in the form of premiums, medals, etc. This important Association has become identified with the growth and prosperity of the city, and its annual fairs, which are held during October, in the best available quarters in the city, are of great and increasing interest, and attract large numbers of visitors to view the articles on exhibition. It has become the nucleus of several scientific departments, and has a section of Agriculture, and another of Machinery and the Arts and Sciences, called the Polytechnic Association. Regular weekly meetings of great interest are held by the former on Tuesday afternoons, and by the latter on Thursday evenings, at the rooms in the Cooper Union Building. Strangers are invited to attend. Admission free. Recently a section of Photography has been added, which will hold weekly meetings.

THE BIBLE HOUSE,

Occupying the block bounded by Fourth avenue, Ninth street, Third avenue and Stuyvesant street, was erected by the American Bible Society, at a cost of about $300,000. Here are printed all the Bibles and Testaments which bear the imprint of this Society. In this spacious building are the rooms of a number of the leading religious benevolent societies, which have their headquarters in New York.

N. Y. HISTORICAL SOCIETY.

This institution, founded in 1804, erected a few years since a very tasteful edifice, on the south-eastern corner of Second avenue and Eleventh street. It has a very valuable library (open to members for consultation only), and a fine-art gallery. The society owns and has on exhibition, in its building, the Bryan Collection of the old masters, the Abbott Collection of Egyptian Curiosities, and the Crawford Marbles. The building is not open to the general public, but strangers can visit it by obtaining a note of introduction from a member of the society.

THE SOCIETY LIBRARY,

the oldest public library in the United States, is situated on the eastern side of University place, between Twelfth and Thirteenth streets. It was incorporated in 1700, under the name of "The Public Library of New York," which name was changed to "The New York Society Library" in 1754. The library is open from 8 A. M. until sunset, and the reading room until 10 P. M. Only members are admitted to the privileges of the institution.

NATIONAL ACADEMY OF DESIGN.

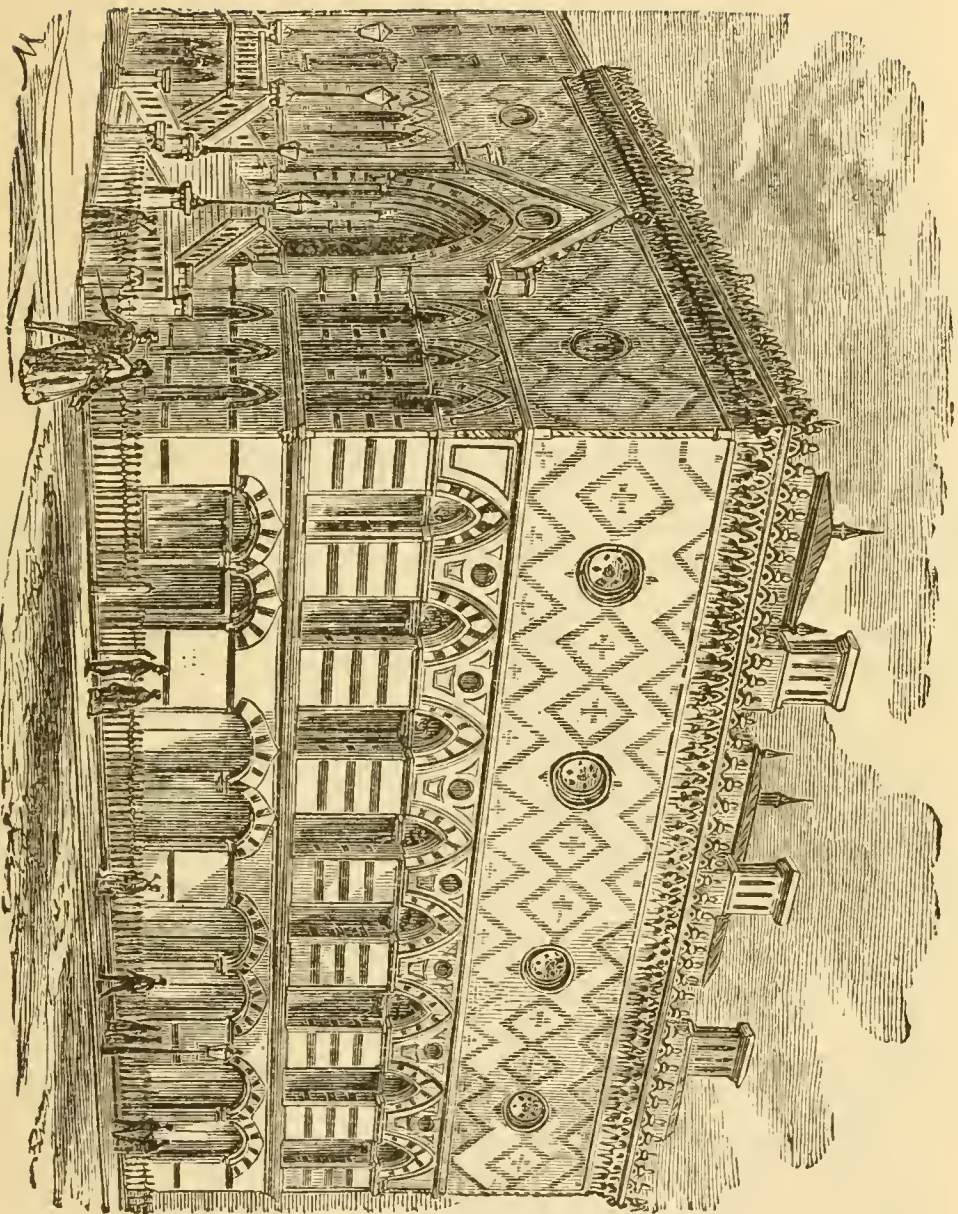

This building, on the north-western corner of Twenty-third street and Fourth avenue, was opened in 1865. Its peculiar style of architecture, copied from a building on the Rialto, in Venice, makes it an object of interest to all strangers. In it are held, twice a year, exhibitions of the works of the artists of the National Academy of Design, at which times the building is open to all visitors. The cost of the building was about $150,000.

BELLEVUE HOSPITAL

Occupies the main portion of the area bounded by East Twenty-sixth street, First avenue, East Twenty-eighth street, and the East river. It is under the charge of the Commissioners of Charities and Correction. It may be visited daily, from 11 A.M. to 2 P.M. In 1866 a Morgue, or Dead-House, modeled after the Morgue in Paris, was opened in connection with it, where dead bodies that are found are taken. These bodies are kept seventy-two hours, and if not identified at the expiration of that time are buried

THE WOMEN'S BUREAU

Occupies the brown-stone house, No. 49 Twenty-third street, near Fourth avenue. The objects of this association are the organized advocacy of universal suffrage, and of all the rights of women. Under its auspices, also, committees of members attend to the wants and instruction of different classes of women, and free lectures on physiology and other subjects of

Academy of Design.

Interest are delivered for the benefit of all women who desire to attend them. Strangers who are interested in the Bureau and its objects are always welcome to its rooms, and women who are not acquainted with the city are directed to good and respectable lodgings, or if desirous of obtaining employment are aided in their endeavors. The office of the Revolution is on the lower floor.

THE HOTEL FOR WORKING WOMEN.

This large and costly structure, commenced in 1869, stands on Fourth avenue, between Thirty-third and Thirty-fourth streets. Its owner, Mr. A. T. Stewart, designed it as a home for working-women, where they may enjoy every comfort at the least possible cost. The building is provided with reading-rooms, parlors, refectory, elevators, and, in short, almost everything which can add to the reasonable wants of its inmates. There are two other homes for working-women in the city beside this palatial "Hotel" of Mr. Stewart's—one at No. 45 Elizabeth street, and the other at No. 27 Washington Square, North. These establishments have been in successful operation for some years, and have been of great advantage to friendless young women coming to the city in search of a livelihood.

THE YOUNG MEN'S CHRISTIAN ASSOCIATION.

The building of this Association occupies a large lot on the south-western corner of Fourth avenue and Twenty-third street. It was built at a cost of about half a million dollars, which sum was raised by subscription among wealthy citizens of New York. The lower part of the building is leased for various kinds of business—the American Tract Society occupying the corner store, and the upper stories are rented as artists' studios. The remaining two stories are used by the Association, being conveniently arranged as reading, conversation, and lecture rooms, while in the sub-basement is a large gymnasium and bowling alley for the use of members. The institution is designed to furnish an attractive place of resort for young men who would naturally be drawn to places of dissipation or haunts of vice, as well as to engage Christians in effective work for religious purposes. Strangers, especially young men, who intend remaining in the city are earnestly advised to avail themselves of the Association in procuring good and respectable lodgings, and in forming desirable acquaintances. Beside the privilege of frequenting the elegant and commodious rooms of the Association, members have the opportunity of joining classes, in which at a moderate cost they may learn the modern languages and various other useful and desirable accomplishments. The Association has branches at 476 Grand street, 285 Hudson street, and at the corner of One Hundred and Twenty-second street and Third avenue, Harlem.

EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS.

Under this title are included only chartered institutions, thus, of course, excluding the public schools, for which New York City is justly celebrated. The first to be mentioned, as it is the oldest, is

COLUMBIA COLLEGE.

This institution, chartered by George

Columbia College,
Fifth Avenue, between Fourth and Fifth Avenues.

II., in 1754, stood on a hill in what is now Park place until a few years since, when it was removed to the old Deaf and Dumb Asylum building, East Fiftieth street, between Fourth and Fifth avenues. It was originally called King's College, which name was changed to Columbia College in 1781. The corporation has become very wealthy from the enormous advance in the value of the real estate which it has owned for many years. Its present location is regarded as temporary, it being the design of the corporation to erect, at no distant day, a number of buildings worthy of the name and fame of the college.

COLUMBIA COLLEGE LAW SCHOOL.

This school, opened in 1858, has met with remarkable success, and now ranks with the first institutions of the kind in the country. As evidence of its prosperity, it may be stated that the first class to graduate from it numbered nine, while that of 1867 numbered seventy-seven.

THE UNIVERSITY OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK

Is located on the eastern side of Washington square, between Washington and Waverley places. The building is of the Gothic order of architecture, and measures 180 by 100 feet. The institution was incorporated in 1831, and the edifice was completed in 1836.

THE COLLEGE OF THE CITY OF NEW YORK,

Until recently called the New York Free Academy, was established in 1848, by the Board of Education, in pursuance of an act passed by the Legislature the year previous. It occupies a handsome edifice in East Twenty-third street, corner of Lexington avenue, which, with the furniture, apparatus, &c., cost nearly $150,000. The institution is open to all graduates from the public schools of the city, free of all expense to the students. It was the first and is still the only institution of the kind in the country.

COLLEGE OF ST. FRANCIS XAVIER.

This college, under the charge of the Jesuits, was founded in 1850, and is situated in West Fifteenth street, between Fifth and Sixth avenues.

N. Y. COLLEGE OF PHYSICIANS AND SURGEONS.

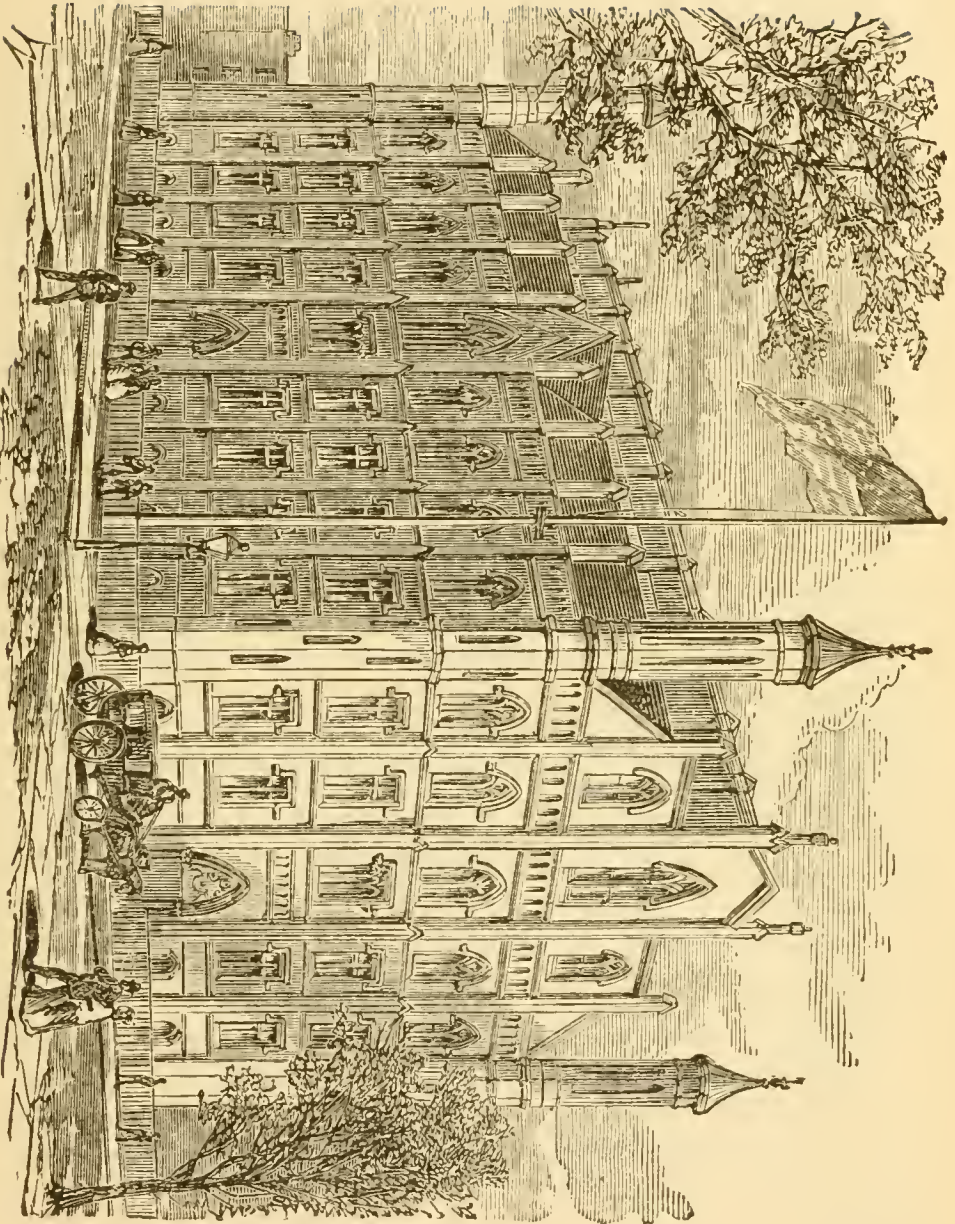

This institution, founded in 1791, and chartered in 1801, is located on the north-eastern corner of Fourth avenue and East Twenty-third street, and is in a very prosperous condition.

UNIVERSITY MEDICAL COLLEGE.

The building occupied by this institution was destroyed at the great fire in 1866 with the Academy of Music. A valuable library and cabinet, and the large collection of anatomical preparations contributed by the late distinguished Dr. Valentine Mott, were destroyed. The college is temporarily located in the N. Y. Hospital building on Worth street, near Church street.

Besides the above mentioned there are several

OTHER MEDICAL COLLEGES, which space will only permit us to give the names and locations.

THEOLOGICAL SEMINARIES.

Of these institutions there are three in the city, viz. : the Union Theological Seminary (New School Presbyterian), incorporated in 1836, and located at No. 9 University place; the General Theological Seminary (Protestant Episcopal), West Twentieth street, corner of Ninth avenue; and the Seminary of St. Francis Xavier (Roman Catholic), West Fifteenth street, between Fifth and Sixth avenues.

CHARITABLE INSTITUTIONS.

Whatever may be said of the vices of New York—and it has its full share of them—the stranger cannot fail to note the great number of charitable institutions in the city. Some of the principal of these will be briefly described.

N. Y. LUNATIC ASYLUM,

Located at Bloomingdale, a little south of Manhattanville, between One Hundred and Fifteenth and One Hundred and Twentieth streets, and between Tenth and Eleventh avenues. It is conveniently reached by the Hudson River Railroad. (See "Walling's Hudson River Route Guide.") The grounds include about forty acres, with trees, walks, shrubbery and flowers, laid out in a tasteful and picturesque manner, the utmost regard being paid in all the arrangements of the institution and its surroundings to make it a pleasant home for its unfortunate inmates. A visit to this institution will well repay the tourist or philanthropist. The scenery in the vicinity is very beautiful, and there are many other objects of interest. Applications for admission of patients should be addressed to the Physician of the New York Lunatic Asylum, Manhattanville Post-office, New York. (Dr. D. T. Brown acts in that capacity at present.) Letters or packages for patients or other inmates may be left at the New York Hospital, Broadway, New York, and they will be duly forwarded.

N. Y. ORPHAN ASYLUM.

This noble institution is beautifully situated on the bank of the Hudson River, between Seventy-third and Seventy-fourth streets, and between the Bloomingdale road and the river. It commands a fine view of the river and surrounding scenery. Its grounds occupy about nine acres. The building, erected in 1840, is of stone, in Gothic style, one hundred and twenty feet long, fifty feet wide, and three stories in height. It contains accommodations for two hundred orphans. In 1806 a "Society for the Relief of Poor

Deaf and Dumb Institute.

Widows with Small Children" was organized by Mrs. Isabella Graham, Mrs. Elizabeth Hamilton (widow of Gen. Alexander Hamilton, killed in a duel at Weehawken, by Aaron Burr), and Mrs. Joanna Bethune. Additional contributions and bequests were subsequently made, and in 1807 the present institution was incorporated. Visitors are very kindly received by the obliging matron, and cannot fail to be strongly interested in the successful administration of this admirable charity.

LEAKE AND WATTS' ORPHAN HOUSE.

Named for the original founders. It is located between One Hundred and Eleventh and One Hundred and Twelfth streets, and Ninth and Tenth avenues. The main building and its wings are two hundred and six feet in length, and the grounds cover twenty-six acres. It has an income capable of supporting from two hundred to two hundred and fifty children. It is well conducted, and open to visitors.

INSTITUTION FOR THE DEAF AND DUMB.

This noble institution is situated on Washington Heights, near the Carmanville station of the Hudson River Railroad. (See Walling's Hudson River Route Guide.) The building is in the form of a hollow square. The front or main building is one hundred and fifty feet long by fifty-five feet wide, and four stories high, including the basement. The wings at each end are one hundred and twenty by forty-six feet, and the school-house, in the rear, one hundred and fifty by eighty-five feet, completes the square. It is capable of accommodating two hundred to three hundred pupils, and is one of the most liberally endowed charitable institutions in the State. Indigent deaf mutes are supported here at the expense of the State; others pay a moderate sum for board and tuition. Dr. Peet, the Superintendent, has an honorable reputation for ability and good management. The institution is open for visitors from 1.30 to 4 P.M. every day except Sunday.

INSTITUTION FOR THE BLIND.

The grounds of this institution occupy the entire block between Thirty-third and Thirty-fourth streets, and Eighth and Ninth avenues. The building is of granite, in the castellated Gothic style of architecture, and cost about $95,000, which was partly raised by private donations, and the balance by legislative appropriation. A certain number of indigent pupils are supported and educated gratuitously. Others at a moderate charge. Visitors are received from one to six P.M. Cars run on both avenues, starting from Broadway near the City Hall Park; and omnibuses from the South ferry pass up Broadway to Twenty-third street, and thence to and up Eighth avenue.

FIVE POINTS HOUSE OF INDUSTRY.

Five Points was formerly the centre of the vilest and most squalid section of the city. The House of Industry is located at 155, 157, and 159 Worth street, a little east of Broadway, in what was once the worst part of this plague-spot of the city. The building is fifty-four feet wide and seven stories high, and has constantly from 100 to 200 inmates, many of whom are rescued from their vicious courses, and from time to time sent to good homes in the country. Daily religious services are held morning and evening. Visitors always welcome.

FIVE POINTS MISSION.

Another institution of similar character, under the management of the Ladies' Home Missionary Society of the Methodist Episcopal Church. The building, on the corner of Park and Little Water streets, contains a chapel, school-rooms, bathing-rooms, and tenements for twenty families. Religious services three times on Sundays, at 10½ A.M., 3 and 7 P.M.

Besides the institutions above mentioned are the following, of which space will only permit the insertion of the names and location.

Asylum for Respectable Aged Indigent Females, 226 East Twentieth street.

Colored Home for the Aged and Indigent, foot of East Sixty-fifth street.

PUBLIC PARKS.

In addition to the Battery, Bowling Green, City Hall Park, and Union and Madison Squares, of which descriptions have already been given, there remain nine others, exclusive of the Central Park, to which the attention of visitors to the city should be called. Until 1867 there were ten of these far too rare openings in the maze of streets and buildings, but in that year St. John's Park, bounded by Hudson, Beach, Varick, and Lighthouse streets, was purchased by Cornelius Vanderbilt, President of the Hudson River Railroad Company. The land was originally owned by Trinity Church, although each owner of the surrounding lots had a proportionate ownership in the square itself. The railroad company paid a million dollars for the square, and the noble old trees, which had for so long a time been an ornament to the vicinity, quickly gave place to the vast pile of brick, granite, and iron which now occupies the ground and serves as a freight depot for the railroad. On the Hudson street front is a very large and costly bronze casting commemorative of the life and achievements of Commodore Vanderbilt. This bronze is well worth seeing, although by no means faultless in an artistic point of view.

WASHINGTON SQUARE,

Bounded by Waverley Place, Macdougal, Fourth, and Wooster streets, and containing $9\frac{1}{4}$ acres, is one of the largest of the older public parks of New York. In the early part of the present century it was set apart for the Potter's Field, and was used for that purpose until 1832, when it was converted into a park. It is estimated that 125,000 bodies rest within its limits. For years it was the most aristocratic portion of the city, as the style of the houses around it still attests. At present, however, it is decidedly "downtown," and may yet be sold, like St. John's Park.

TOMPKINS SQUARE.

This is bounded by avenues A and B, and Seventh and Tenth streets. Formerly it was used solely as a parade ground, but is now a pleasant place of

The Presbyterian Hospital, James Lenox, President, Madison and Fourth Avenues, and Seventh and Seventy-first Streets.

resort for the people who live on the extreme eastern side of the city.

STUYVESANT SQUARE.

This is a portion of old Peter Stuyvesant's farm, and was given to the city by one of his descendants, on condition of its being enclosed with a strong iron fence. Its eastern and western boundaries are respectively Stuyvesant place and Rutherford place, and its northern and southern boundaries are East Fifteenth and East Seventeenth streets. The Second avenue runs through it, thus dividing it into two distinct parks.

GRAMERCY PARK,

Is a charming little square lying between Third and Fourth avenues and East Twentieth and East Twenty-first streets. It is owned by the property owners around it, each of whom contributes to keeping it in order. It is strictly a private park, the gates being always locked, and keys furnished to only those who reside around it.

RESERVOIR SQUARE,

On Sixth avenue, between West Fortieth and West Forty-second streets, is the site of the Crystal Palace, which was destroyed by fire in 1858. Immediately adjacent to its eastern border is the distributing reservoir of the Croton water.

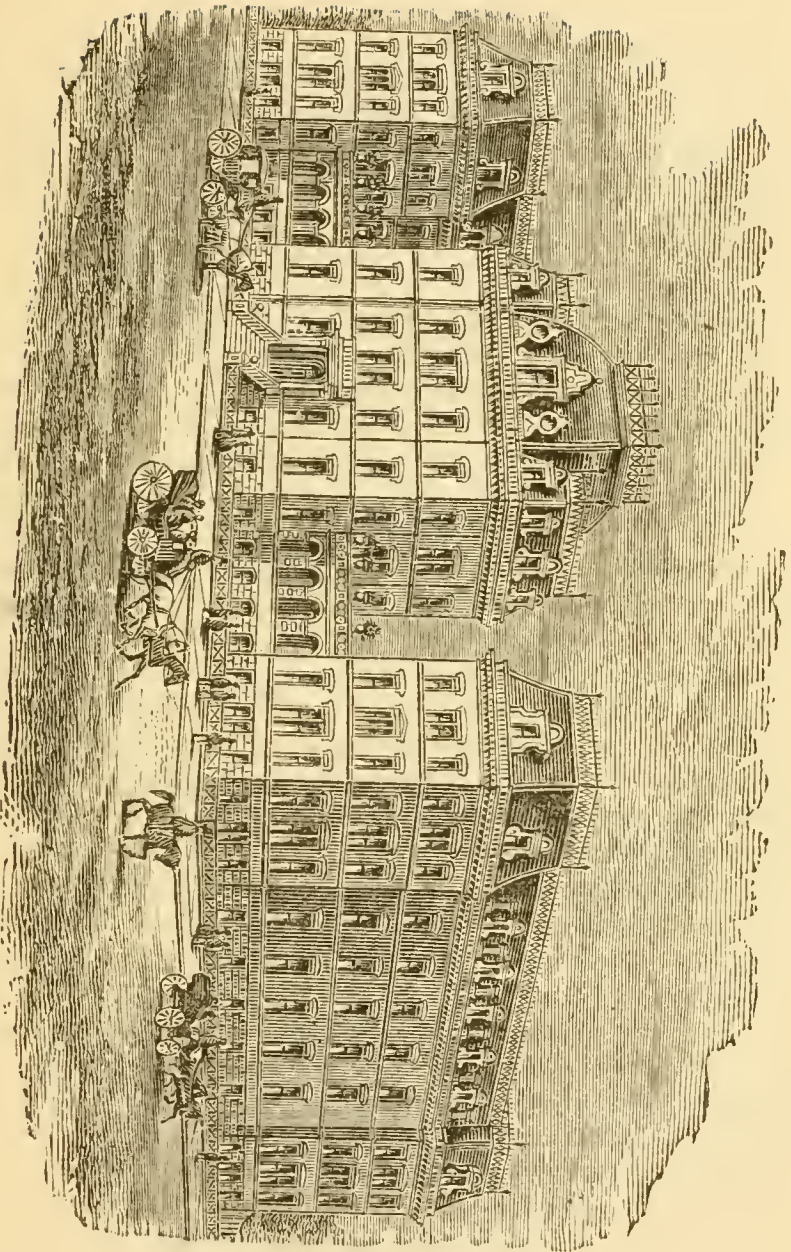

OTHER SQUARES.

The four remaining squares may be dismissed with the mere mention of their boundaries, as they are not yet fully laid out. They are as follows:—Hamilton square, situated between East Sixty-sixth and East Sixty-ninth streets, and Third and Fifth avenues;

Bloomingdale square, between Eighth and Ninth avenues, and West Fifty-third and West Fifty-seventh streets; Manhattan square, between Eighth and Ninth avenues, and West Seventy-seventh and West Eighty-first streets; and Mount Morris square, bounded north and south respectively by One Hundred and Twenty-fourth and One Hundred and Twentieth streets, and extending on each side of Fifth avenue.

CENTRAL PARK.

This, the great pleasure ground of the city, covers the land bounded on the south by West Fifty-ninth street, on the east by Fifth avenue, on the north by One Hundred and Tenth street, and on the west by Eighth avenue. It is two and a half miles long, about half a mile wide, and contains 843 acres, including the two reservoirs. When work was commenced upon it in 1853, it was one of the most forbidding spots that can be conceived, being little else than a huge marsh, relieved here and there by patches of trap rock, and utterly destitute of natural beauty; now it is as attractive a spot as can be found in the country, and is excelled by few parks of its kind in the world. It contains about fifteen miles of carriage roads, eight miles of bridle paths, and twenty-five miles of walks. No trade-carts or wagons are allowed on its drives, but by an ingenious device four streets cross it from Fifth to Eighth avenue under the park roads; these streets are Sixty-fifth, Seventy-ninth, Eighty-fifth, and Ninety-seventh. There are three ponds in the park, a small one near the entrance at the intersection of Fifth avenue and Fifty-ninth street,

Mount Sinai Hospital,
Lexington Avenue, between Sixty-sixth and Sixty-Seventh Streets.

a large one, called "The Lake," between lines drawn through Seventy-third and Seventy-eighth streets, and a third of considerable size at the upper end of the park. Boats ply on these in the summer; and in the winter they are open to skaters. At the lower end, near Fifth avenue, is the old arsenal, now used as an art gallery, and a place for animals.

SPECIAL OBJECTS OF INTEREST.

With this general description of the Central Park, the visitor is ready to be informed of some of the objects of special interest within it. The first to be mentioned is

THE MALL,

A spacious promenade, running due north and south, and terminated on the north by an attractive architectural structure called the Terrace. On either side of the mall is a beautiful lawn, and on a pleasant Saturday afternoon, when the band is playing, it is sure to be filled with people, while the adjacent carriage-ways are crowded with elegant equipages, the whole forming a spectacle to be witnessed nowhere else in America.

THE TERRACE,

Is a series of steps leading from the mall to the border of the main lake, and is the most imposing specimen of architecture in the park, and the finest of its kind in the country. The view from its upper part is unsurpassed. A little to the right of the northern end of the mall is

THE CASINO,

A restaurant, under the control of the Park Commissioners. Nothing stronger than malt liquors or light wines is allowed to be sold here.

THE RAMBLE.

Is between the Lake and the lower Reservoir, a portion of the Park devoted entirely to walks, which are laid out with skill and taste—hills and dales, winding among rocks and caves, shaded and bordered with forest-trees, shrubbery and flowers.

THE RESERVOIRS.

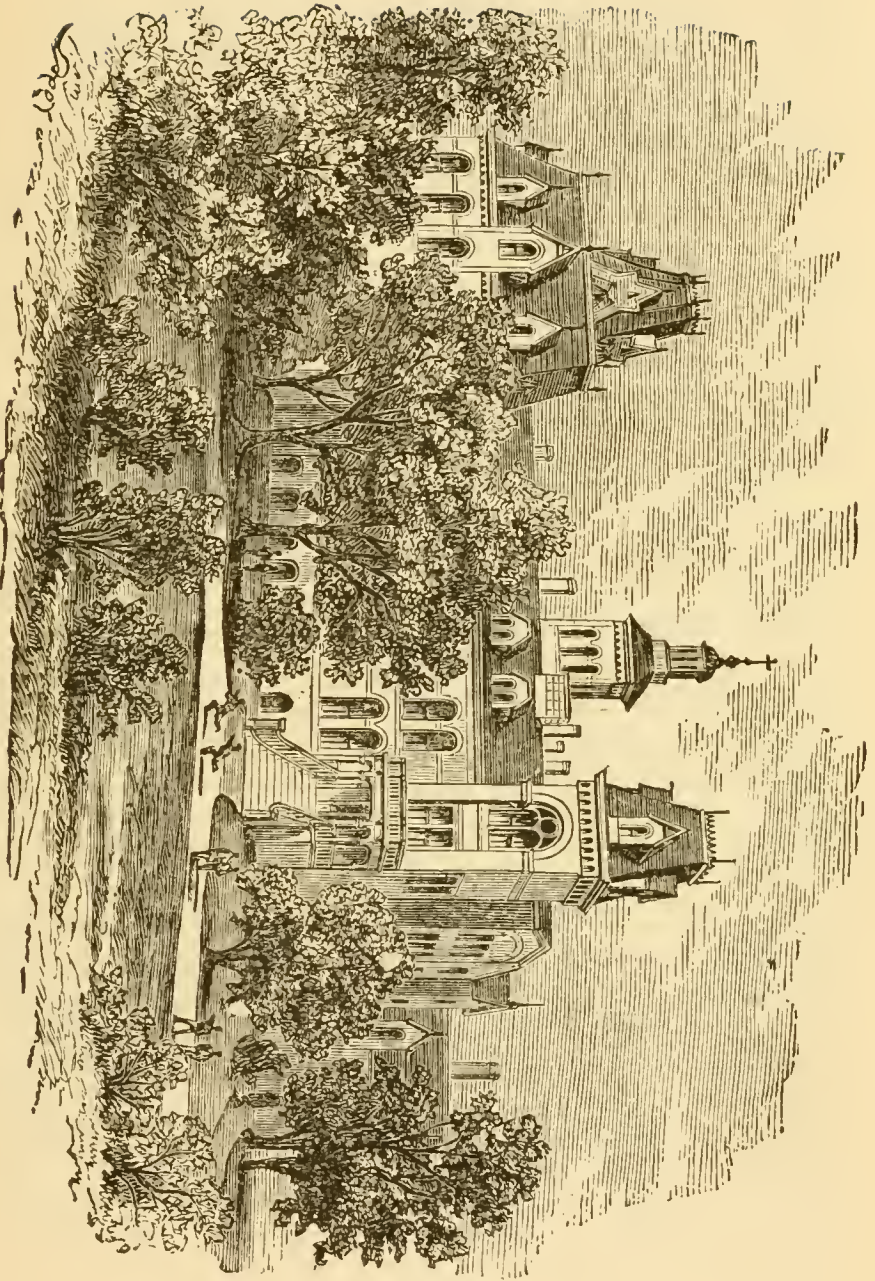

There are two reservoirs in the Park, the old one between Eightieth and Eighty-fifth streets, and the new one a few steps north of it. The capacity of the former is 150,000,000 gallons; that of the latter is more than twice as great. The new reservoir was first used in 1862.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Besides these objects of interest, there are also the playground, the green, the flower-garden, and a number of minor spots which the visitor can hardly fail to notice. A special feature of the Park are the archways and bridges, of which there are over thirty, and which are universally admired for their architectural beauty; it should be added that no two of them are alike.

HOW TO GO TO THE PARK.

To go from the eastern side of the city, take the Second or Third avenue cars, and stop at Sixty-fifth or Seventy-ninth street, the former of which leads to the "Green" and the latter to the "Ramble." To go from the western side of the city, take the Sixth, Seventh, or Eighth avenue cars, and stop at fifty-ninth street, which forms the lower boundary of the Park.

The Park is open every day in the year as follows: During December, January, and February, from 7 A.M. to 8 P.M.; during March, April, May, June, October, and November, from 6 A.M. to 9 P.M.; during July, August, and September, from 5 A.M. to 11 P.M.

The best time to visit the Park, if one would see the display of equipages, is after three o'clock in the afternoon. Carriages can be hired within the Park for a reasonable sum, the rate of fare being fixed by the Park Commissioners. At four o'clock on Saturday afternoons fine open-air concerts are given by Dodworth's Band.

THE ISLANDS.

A guide-book of this character would be incomplete without some notice of the islands which cluster about New York like satellites around a planet. Three have been mentioned, leaving to be noticed Blackwell's Island, Ward's Island, and Randall's Island.

BLACKWELL'S ISLAND,

A narrow strip of land, one and three-quarter miles long, containing one hundred and twenty acres, is situated in the East River, and extends from opposite East Forty-eighth to Eighty-third street. The channel on either side is quite deep, and navigable by the largest vessels. On the island are the following buildings, all under the charge of the Commissioners of Charities and Correction: Charity Hospital, Small-pox Hospital, Fever Hospital, Infant Hospital, Hospital for Incurables, Hospital for Epileptics, Hospital for Paralytics, Penitentiary, Almshouse, Workhouse, and Lunatic Asylum. The island is kept in perfect order, and will well repay one for the trouble of visiting it.

WARD'S ISLAND,

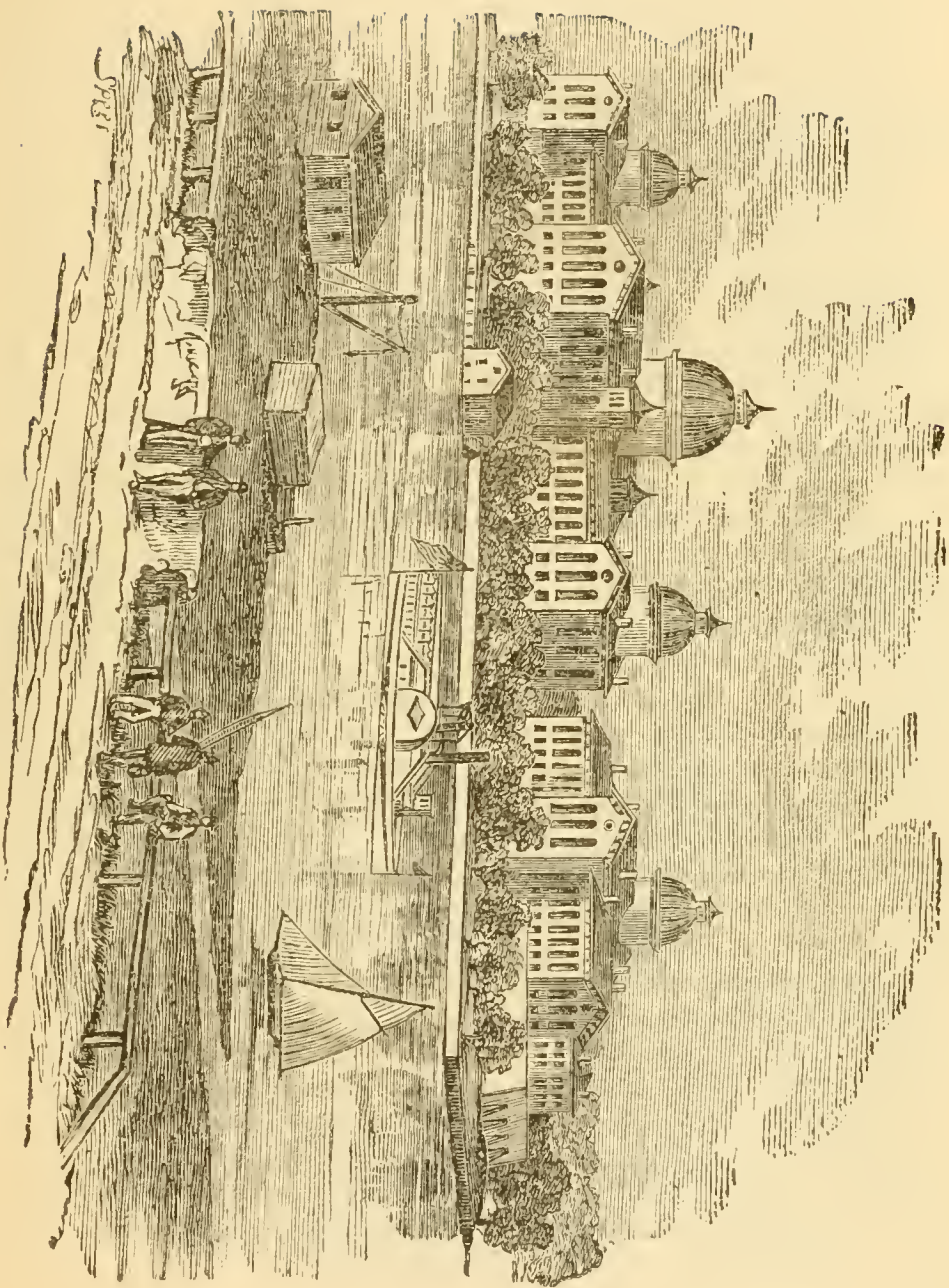

Covering two hundred and twenty acres, is situated at the junction of the East and Harlem rivers, opposite One Hundred and One Hundred and Fourteenth streets. It contains a hospital for emigrants, and there is now erecting on it a lunatic asylum. Here, also, is the Potter's Field, but the Commissioners have already asked permission to purchase land elsewhere for this use.

RANDALL'S ISLAND,

Is a short distance north of Ward's Island. On it is a nursery, in which children over two years old committed to the Commissioners are placed and kept until their parents or guardians are able to provide for them. If not claimed, they are indentured, at a suitable age, to respectable citizens, to learn some useful pursuit. There are now in the nursery 642 boys and 321 girls. A school for idiot children is also located on this island.

HOW TO SEE THE ISLANDS.

Persons desirous of visiting the islands in the East river can obtain permits upon application to the Commissioners of Public Charities and Correction, at their office, No. 1 Bond street. The easiest way to obtain a view of them is to take one of the steamboats which leave Peck Slip every hour for Harlem.

House of Refuge.

CEMETERIES.

The cemeteries where the myriad dead of the great metropolis find their last and final resting-place, are, with one or two exceptions, located at a convenient distance in the suburbs. These are interesting places to visit, as they indicate the growth in the noble sentiments and refined taste which lead us to honor and respect the memory of those who have departed from us.

GREENWOOD.

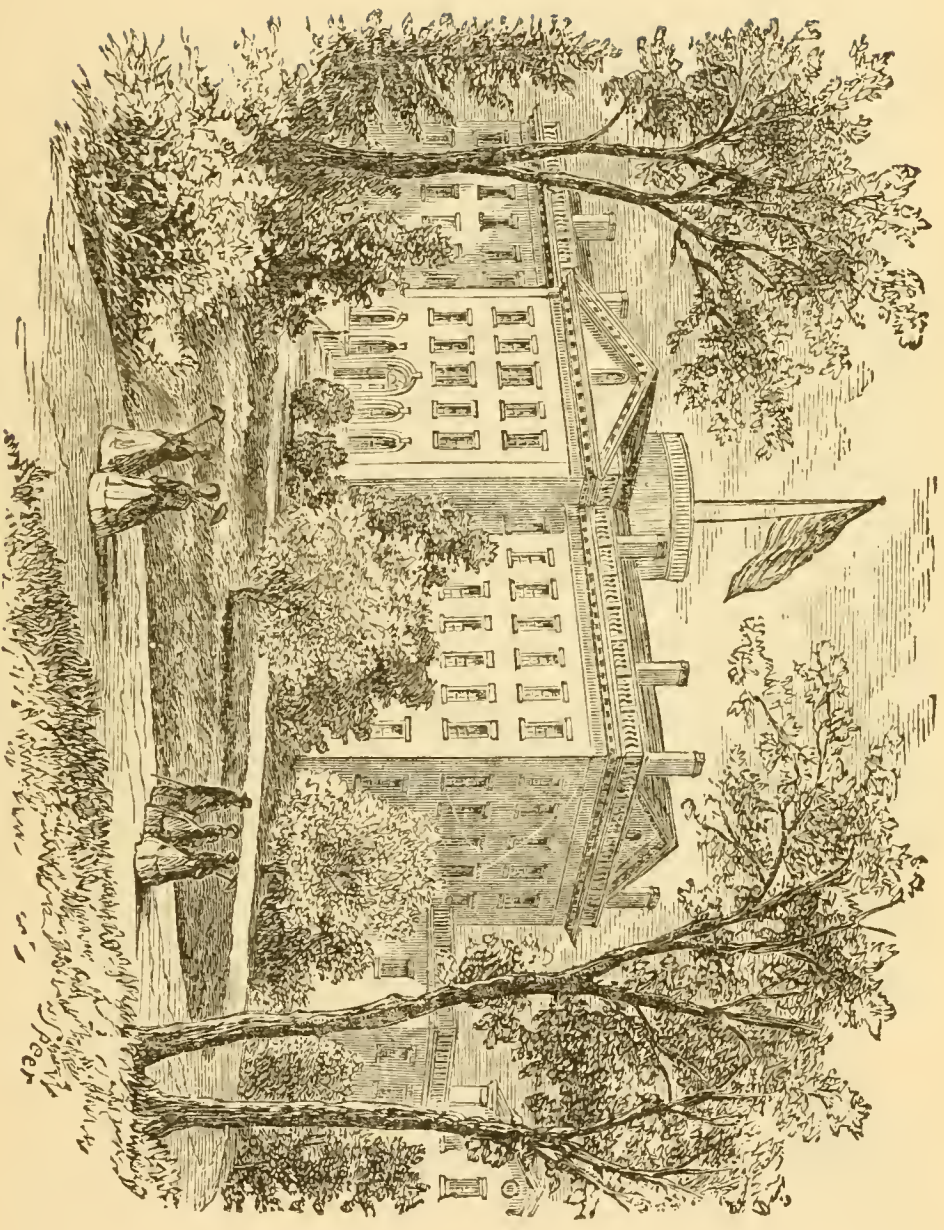

The grounds of Greenwood, of all our cemeteries the first in importance, in beauty of location and the adornment of art, comprise four hundred and ten acres. They are situated on Gowanus Heights, Brooklyn, are undulating in surface, forming, even if unadorned by art, the most romantic and beautiful of burial-places. From the breezy knolls which adorn its broad area is obtained a view of the beautiful bay of New York, the picturesque hills of Staten Island and Bergen Heights, the Narrows opening into the Atlantic, the distant ocean itself, from Sandy Hook to Rockaway beach, and the smoky and busy, but at this distance noiseless emporium of the ever eager and restless multitudes of the living. No more enchanting spot could have been selected for the great necropolis of the city. Its vast extent of forest-trees, its swelling hills, crested with luxuriant shrubbery, its valleys, ridges, lanes, and shady groves, the labyrinth of avenues and lanes, broad carriage-ways and footpaths turning among the humble and unlettered graves, or lost in thick mazes of sculptured stone, render this home of the dead an attractive resort. In the laying out of these grounds the best artistic and engineering talent has been employed, and the result has been the establishment, within the twenty-two years during which Greenwood has been in existence, of a cemetery unequalled by any other in the country for beauty of plan and thorough excellence of the artistic adaptation of its natural advantages to subserve its solemn purposes with the greatest effect of beauty. The various avenues which twine about the grounds in every imaginable direction, penetrating the shady groves, delving into the valleys, and winding about the hills, are of a total length of sixteen miles. This is exclusive of the many small footpaths which conduct to remote points of interest through valleys, over hill-tops, or along the borders of the several lakes with which the grounds are embellished.

The whole number of interments in this cemetery from the time of its first establishment, twenty-two years ago, up to the 28th day of May, 1867, is shown by the official records to have been 125,721, making an average of 5,714 burials a year, about 110 a week, or 15 a day throughout that time. The whole number of burial lots sold up to the 26th ult. was 17,408, and the financial condition of the institution is shown in the annual report to be as flourishing as are its groves, walks, drives, and well kept lots. All sums received for lots are expended in improving the grounds. To visit this cemetery, cross Fulton or South ferries, and take Greenwood cars. Fare, six cents.

THE EVERGREENS.

The Cemetery of the Evergreens is

Bloomingdale Asylum for the Insane,
One Hundred and Seventeenth Street and Tenth and Eleventh Avenues.

located in the most easterly corner of Brooklyn, and its grounds comprise upwards of two hundred acres, lying in Brooklyn, Newtown and New Lots. It is very favorably situated, within easy reach of Brooklyn by the main lines of railway respectively from Atlantic, Fulton, and the South Seventh street ferries. These grounds have long been noted for their great beauty and the solemn grandeur of the effects produced by their romantic situation, and the care with which art conduces to the perfection of nature. The gateways, arches, buildings, and ornamental work of the grounds are all in rustic style, and present a remarkably unique and pleasing appearance from this peculiarity. The monuments and private grounds within this enclosure are remarkable for unusual beauty, and the latter especially for the good order in which they are kept. Obelisks and statues, shattered shafts and stately tombs, at once adorn the scene and give their solemn honors to the dead. The avenues are broad, smooth, and well kept; the flowers spring up luxuriantly on all sides over the sodded graves and beside the tall monuments; and though the scene is bright with nature's smiling features, the stately trees cast a decorous gloom around, in keeping with the solemn consecration of the spot.

CYPRESS HILLS.

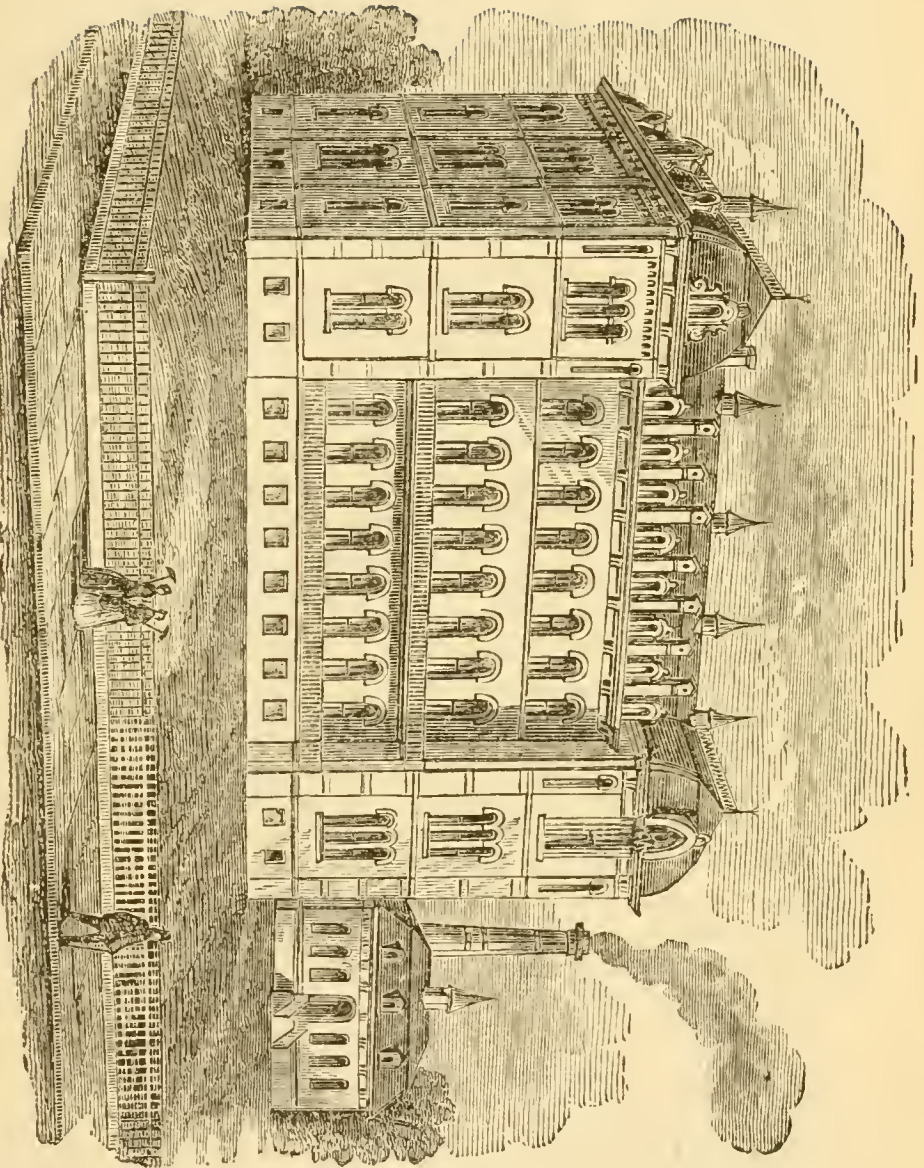

These grounds contain about four hundred acres, and are situated a short distance east of the Evergreens, and just east of the Ridgewood Reservoir, where the water is pumped up from the aqueduct which supplies the city of Brooklyn.

In the location of this cemetery remarkable good taste and appreciation of the solemn grandeur of nature have been manifested. A large tract of land, fertile and beautiful in its natural state, presenting an admirable diversity of hill and dale, shady wood and flowery valley, constitutes this well kept domain of the dead. Its site is a romantic range of hills, or rather the salient points of a long ridge on the Jamaica turnpike, about five miles from the Williamsburg ferries, over a direct and well regulated road. The picturesqueness and variety of its landscape, the commanding view from its lofty eminences, its cool, sequestered groves, and the impressive solemnity of its forest shades give it a character fully worthy of the best intentions of its originators. To visit it take city railroad cars from Fulton, South, and Williamsburg ferries.

WOODLAWN CEMETERY.

The location of these grounds is just above Fordham, on the west bank of the Bronx, about seven miles from Harlem bridge. The cemetery is situated on a swelling wooded ridge, whose broad plateau and fertile sides are thickly wooded, and fresh strewn with graves and tombstones of unique design and artistic finish. The approach is by a winding carriage-way up the hill-side, and passing through a commanding gateway supported by a fine stone lodge. Although the cemetery is only three years old, it vies in point of beauty and fine monuments with the most celebrated and complete of our older burial-places. It has already, with the aid of art and enterprising labor, brushed away the roughness of nature, transformed the tangle of the forest into the labyrinth of the cemetery.

Woman's Hospital of the State of New York, and changed the unsightly swamps into ornamental lakes, where drooping trees and sombre waters lend their gloomy impressiveness to the home of the dead. There are about five thousand graves already in these grounds, and many of the monuments are splendid works of art, in addition to their appropriateness to the locality, and the solemn purpose they subserve. To visit this cemetery take Harlem Railroad cars, Fourth avenue, corner East Twenty-sixth st. (See Walling's Harlem Railroad Route Guide.)

NEW YORK BAY CEMETERY,

Located on the west bank of New York bay, two and a half miles below Jersey City, on a high ridge, sloping gradually in a fertile stretch of land towards the waters of the bay, and affording from every part a splendid view of its verdant shores, busy traffic, and the towering spires of the twin cities. The grounds are reached either by the cars, a well regulated plank-road, or by steamer, a fine wharf having been built for the accommodation of those desiring to avail themselves of this means of conveyance during the summer months, when the trip by water is more convenient and pleasant.

CALVARY CEMETERY.

This cemetery is very finely located at Newtown, L. I., and distant two and a half miles from the Tenth street ferry. This is the principal, in fact the only extensive burial-ground of our Catholic population, although there are several other similar institutions in the immediate suburbs of Brooklyn. Calvary is the property of the trustees of St. Patrick's Cathedral in this city, and contains about eighty acres of land, laid out with the best view to adaptation of the tract to its solemn purposes. An officiating clergyman resides on the ground, and attends the needs of the numbers who daily seek sepulture in these consecrated grounds. The cemetery has been in existence nineteen years, having been first opened in the year 1848; and since that time it has been constantly improving in beauty of appearance and the decorations of art.

TRINITY CHURCH CEMETERY,

Between One Hundred and Fifty-third and One Hundred and Fifty-fourth streets and Tenth avenue and the Hudson river, contains twenty-five acres, and is tastefully laid out and well kept. To visit it take Hudson river cars to Carmansville station.

MOUNT OLIVET CEMETERY,

Situated near Maspeth, L. I., three and a half miles from Grand and Houston street ferries, contains about fifty acres. It is well laid out, and presents an agreeable diversity of surface. It is accessible by different roads leading out from Williamsburg.

Besides the cemeteries above mentioned, there are numerous smaller ones in the city and its suburbs, belonging to different religious societies, etc., some of which are neat and well kept, while others are gradually falling into decay, and will probably be removed ere long to more suitable locations, to make way for the erection of buildings, etc.

CENTRAL PARK DIRECTORY.

CARRIAGES will leave the Merchants' Gate, 59th street and Eighth avenue, making the circuit of the Park, at brief intervals, from 7 a. m., till 9 p. m., and may be taken anywhere on the road.

Fare for each passenger making the entire circuit of the Park, or any distance, Twenty-five cents.

The circuit will be made in about one hour and a half.

Not more than twelve persons will be allowed in a carriage at any one time. When the word "Full" is shown on the carriage, no passengers will be taken in.

Park-keepers in uniform are on duty at all hours of the day and night, and will give visitors information respecting the carriages and the Park.

No parcel or baggage is permitted in the carriages.

Smoking is not allowed in the carriages.

Parties will please report any incivility on the part of the driver, to a park-keeper, or to the Comptroller of the Park.

The Park is open every day in the year; the hours of opening and closing vary with the season.

Length of Park from 59th street to 110th street, about $2\frac{1}{2}$ miles; width of the Park from Fifth avenue to Eighth avenue, about $\frac{1}{2}$ mile; length of Park Carriage Roads, about $9\frac{1}{2}$ miles; length of Park Bridle Roads, about $5\frac{1}{2}$ miles; length of Park Walks, about $27\frac{1}{2}$ miles.

The Park contains 862 acres; New Reservoir, 107 acres; Old Reservoir, 35 acres; Pond, 59th street and sixth avenue, 5 acres; Lake, 20 acres; Conservatory Water, $2\frac{1}{2}$ acres; Pool, 2 acres; Harlem Lake, 12 acres; Loch, 1.

The Gallery of Statuary and Art is at the old Chapel of Mount St. Vincent, near the north end of the Park.

The Zoological and Natural History Collections are at the Museum, near the south-east part of the Park.

Boats to take visitors around the Lake may be found at the various landings.

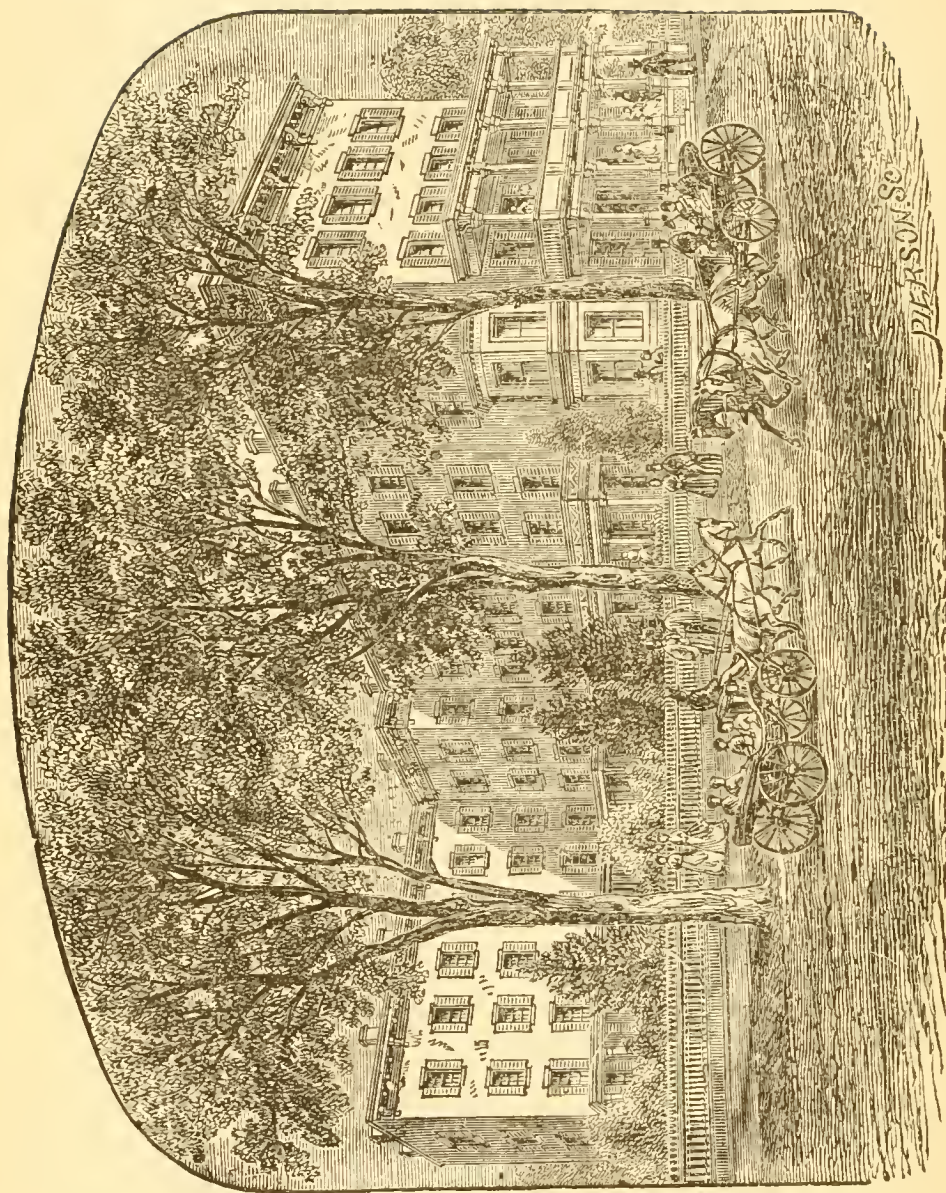

Refreshments may be obtained at the Casino and at Mount St. Vincent, and Mineral Waters at the "Springs."

While a drive around the Park is very interesting, yet many of its most attractive features can be seen only by taking the foot-paths.

Music on the Mall every Saturday afternoon, when the weather is fine.

THE ARLINGTON HOTEL

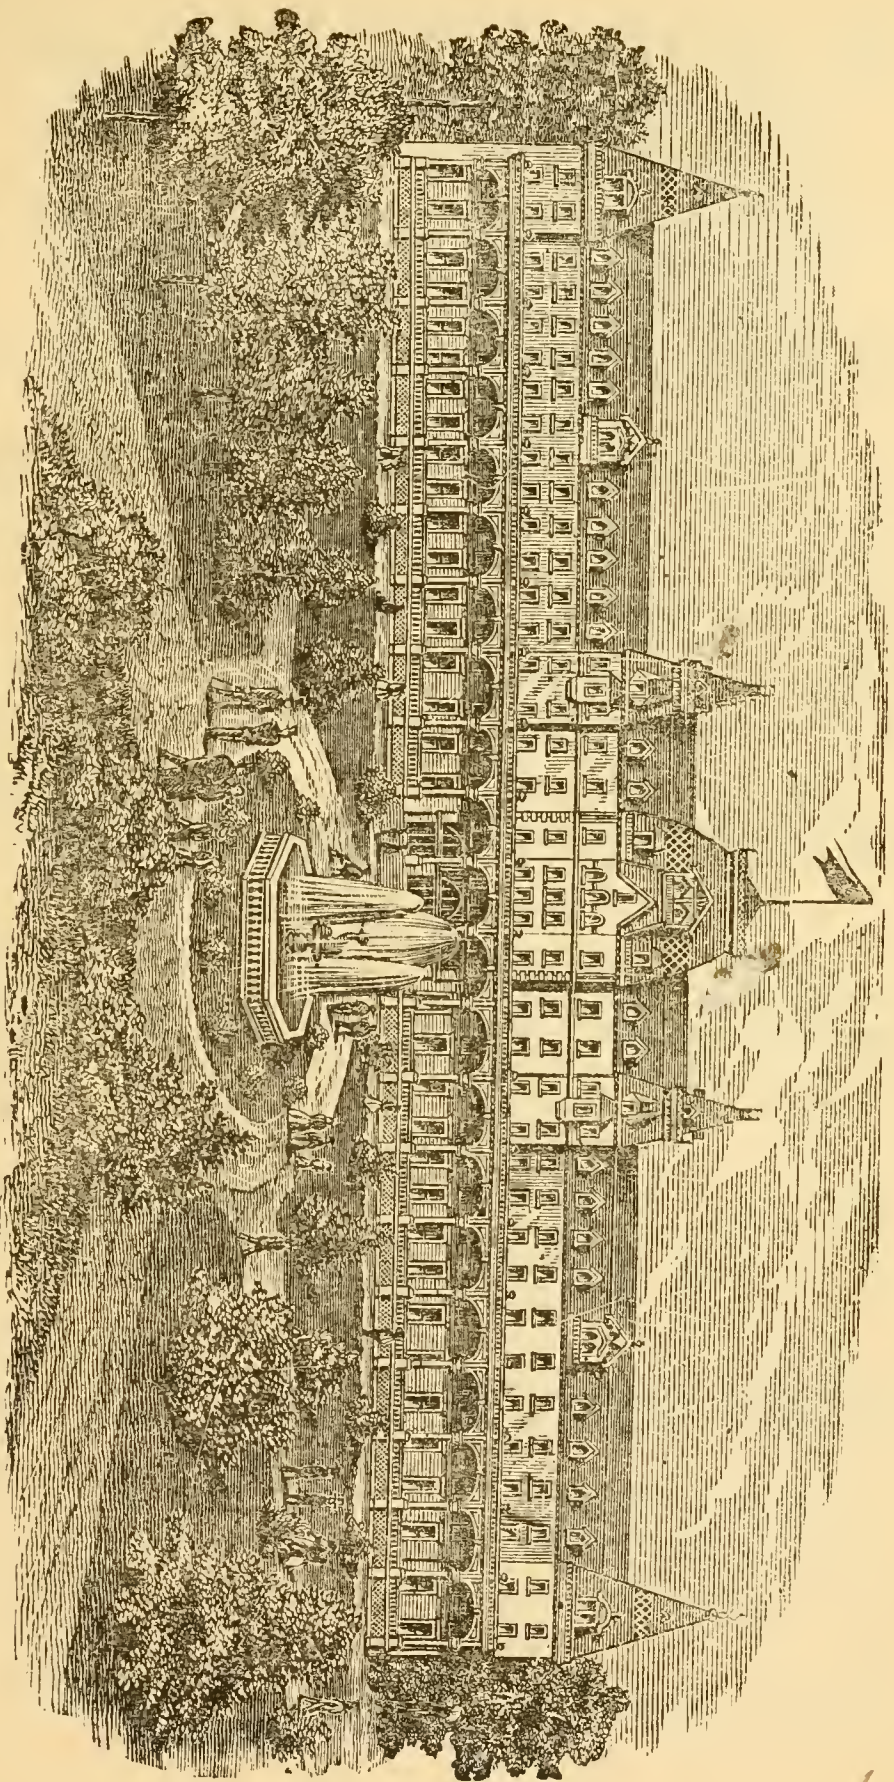

At WASHINGTON, D. C.

T. ROESSLE & SON, Proprietors.

THE Arlington House, is well worthy of the first-class patronage which it receives. It is situated on the corner of 15th and H streets, on the highest ground, with the exception of the ground on which the Capitol building stands, and in one of the most delightful and interesting portions of the city. The southern wing fronts the beautiful Lafayette Park, in which is the celebrated bronze equestrian statue of Jackson, and opposite which are the "White House," U.S. Treasury Building, and the U. S. War and Navy Departments. The residence of the Secretary of State is a few rods to the north of the hotel— and all the public buildings are within easy distance. The hotel is five stories high, with brown stone front, and is furnished in elegant style, with all the modern improvements for hotel comforts and conveniences. Among them are a fine passenger elevator—the only one in any hotel in Washington—closets on all the floors, signal bells, etc. The dining hall is one of the handsomest and most pleasantly situated in which we have ever been entertained, and the bountiful and sumptuous repasts, the polite attention and the general hospitality of the room add materially to the comfort and happiness of the patrons of the house. A large number of the rooms are arranged in suites, with all the conveniences for family use. The proprietors of the hotel, Messrs. T. ROESSLE & SON, also conduct the magnificent and celebrated Fort William Henry Hotel at Lake George, the finest summer resort in America. To the patrons of the Fort William Henry we need only say, that what it is in the summer resort world the Arlington is among the hotels of the Capital.

Respectfully,

THE EDITOR OF TAINOR'S ROUTE AND CITY GUIDES.

JOHN P. CONKLING, Esq., Saratoga Springs, N. Y.

Among the important business offices of Saratoga Springs none stands more closely related to the welfare and growth of the village than the Real Estate Office of John P. Conkling, Esq. It is situated in "Hill's Building," on Broadway, in the business center of the town, and directly opposite Division street and the new United States Hotel. The office is fitted up in elegant style, with black walnut desks and finishings, Brussels carpeting, etc., and the walls are adorned with numerous paintings and copies of all the maps of the town since 1785. Here also is kept the "Visitor's Register," where the sojourners of Saratoga register their names and location for reference by parties who may be stopping at other hotels or cottages and wish to find their friends. Hourly reports of the New York Stock Market are posted in conspicuous places, and abundance of free stationary, postal cards, etc., are provided, while errand boys and messengers await the bidding of visitors who require their services. In fact, Mr. Conkling's office is the business heart of the town, from and to which the business life circulates throughout this greatest watering-place of the world. No man in Saratoga is quicker to appreciate and anticipate the wants of visitors to the Springs than Mr. Conkling, and few, if any, have been more interested and active in promoting attractions and entertainments for the hundreds of thousands who annually visit this world-renowned Spa. Mr. Conkling is President of the Saratoga Rowing Association, and to his influence and exertions the public are, in a great degree, indebted for having secured the annual occurrence of the College and other Regattas at Saratoga, the only place in the United States where there are suitable and adequate accommodations for the tens of thousands who throng these exciting scenes. But, as the most extensive dealer in Real Estate and in Negotiating Mortgages, Mr. Conkling has rendered most efficient service to the town. When he first began business, in

RENSSELAER AND SARATOGA.

1871, but few real estate transactions occurred in this vicinity but by his indomitable energy and enterprise, systematic advertising, honorable dealing and close application to his patrons' interest, he has largely increased the demand for real estate in this beautiful village. At his suggestion the "summer cottages" erected in Saratoga for city guests have been modernized with the latest improvements and conveniences, and they are fast becoming a popular feature. He is prepared to arrange with lessees of cottages to take charge of their places in their absence without cost to the proprietors, and he invites all who do business through him to make his office their headquarters. All legal sales of real estate in Saratoga Springs are made in Mr. Conkling's office. Mr. Conkling has diagrams of all the floors of every summer cottage in Saratoga Springs, showing the size and arrangement of every room and floor, and is thus able to forward to any party negotiating for a cottage or house a correct copy of its entire plan. In short, everything that anybody desires to ascertain respecting property in Saratoga he is prepared to furnish on the shortest notice. He is building an office at Geyser Spring to facilitate transactions of real estate in that vicinity. This part of Saratoga is about being developed, and will be one of the most beautiful parts of the town. It enjoys the advantage of a rolling surface, and is the region of the wonderful Spouting Springs, which are such a novel feature of this mineral-spring vicinity. Mr. Conkling's well-known enterprise, and his knowledge of the requirements of the summer residents of Saratoga, are a sufficient guaranty that the place will be developed in a tasteful and judicious manner. All parties interested in Saratoga property will do well to consult Mr Conkling on all real estate matters.

THE HEALTH-LIFT

CUMULATIVE EXERCISE,

POPULARLY KNOWN AS

The "Health Lift," or "Lifting Cure,"

Whilst improving the health, will double the actual strength in three months—occupies only ten minutes once a day—furnishes a safer and more valuable mode of physical training than the gymnasium—is adapted to both ladies and gentlemen, requiring no change of dress—does not fatigue or exhaust, but, by equalizing and improving the circulation of the blood, refreshes and invigorates—and finally, is daily recommended by leading physicians to those suffering from want of tone and vigor, or from dyspepsia and other forms of indigestion, or from various diseases of the nervous system, or from the class of ailments caused by torpor or congestion of the liver—in short, it is warmly approved by the medical profession as the most efficient, safe, and simple means of preventing diseases arising from sedentary habits.

Its rationale may be thus summed up: It is a HARMONIOUS and SIMULTANEOUS EXERCISE of the WHOLE BODY; every muscle is brought into use, and each in proportion to its relative strength. So distributed is this effort that there is no danger of injurious strain or rupture. The strength is augmented and equalized, and thus the individual becomes uniformly strong, and consequently healthy. It puts a man in possession of himself. It is a true EXERCISE, a correct DEVELOPING AGENCY, and in many instances a safe method of cure.

These results may be secured by the use of the "Reactionary Lifter," which commends itself for cheapness, durability, and portability, its elegance and uniqueness of construction, as well as its ease and accuracy of adjustment. Full particulars sent by mail on application to

THE HEALTH LIFT CO., 46 East 14th St., New York.

THE HEALTH-LIFT

Reduced to a Science.

CUMULATIVE EXERCISE.

A Thorough Gymnastic System

IN TEN MINUTES ONCE A DAY.

Health restored and Muscular Strength developed by equalizing and invigorating the circulation. The result of twenty years practical and theoretical study and experiment. The only scientific system of physical training.

Minimum time for maximum results.

This "cut" represents a lady taking an exercise on the Reactionary Lifter.

It will be seen that the EXERCISE, as well as the APPARATUS, is especially adapted for Ladies use. It is the only Machine in use by which a lady can take sufficient exercise without change of dress, soiled hands, awkward positions, etc. By its use, ten minutes once a day, they can get all needed exercise.

THE CHRISTIAN UNION.

A WEEKLY FAMILY NEWSPAPER.

HENRY WARD BEECHER, EDITOR.

In religious matters this paper is Evangelical and Unsectarian; in political affairs, independent and outspoken. In addition to Mr. Beecher's "Brilliant Star Papers," his Editorials, and his helpful Lecture-Room Talks, it contains the best articles, and both short and serial stories from the foremost writers; it aims to maintain the highest standard in Religion, Literature, Poetry, Art, Music, Science, News, Politics, Household and Family Affairs, with Stories, Rhymes, Puzzles for the Children, etc. Nothing is spared to make it a COMPLETE Newspaper for the Family, pure, attractive, wide-awake, up with the times, and inspired with essential Christianity—a journal interesting to every one in the household, young or old. It is a marvel of cheapness.

 For less than one cent. a day, it gives every week reading matter enough to fill an ordinary $1.25 book of over 300 pages; and in a year fifty-two such volumes, i. e., sixty-five dollars' worth of matter! To each is thus annually presented A COMPLETE LIBRARY.

The paper's form (24 pages, large 4to, pasted and trimmed), commends it to all who are tired of the old-fashioned "blanket sheets."

The well-earned popularity of this paper is now such that, of its class, it has the Largest Circulation in the World, and has readers by hundreds of thousands.

An illustrated number, containing the opening chapters of Mrs. Stowe's admirable new story, "WE AND OUR NEIGHBORS," will be sent free to every new and renewing subscriber. If you are not already a subscriber, send at once and secure it under the now offered

LIBERAL TERMS.

The paper may be had either with or without the attractive premiums offered, viz.:

The Christian Union, One Year, only $3.00;

Or, with premium pair French Oleographs, "Our Boys" (size 11x13 $\frac{3}{4}$ inches each), charming in design and execution, mounted, sized, varnished, ready for framing, Delivered Free..... \$3.50

Or, with large premium French Oil Chromo, "The Lord is Risen," a beautiful Cross-and-Flower Piece, which sells in art stores for \$5.00. Size, 11 $\frac{1}{4}$ x16 $\frac{3}{4}$ inches. Mounted, sized, varnished, ready for framing, Delivered Free..... \$3.50

SPECIMEN COPIES sent free by mail on receipt of TEN CENTS.

 Money must be sent by postal money-order, check, draft, or registered letter. Otherwise it is at the sender's risk.

SPECIAL NOTICE.

In consequence of the death of Mr. Phelan, the firm of PHELAN & COLLENDER is dissolved. The undersigned, the surviving partner, begs to inform the customers of the house and the public generally that, having purchased the entire Stock, Machinery, Copyrights, and Letters-Patent of the late firm, he continues the business in the same extensive Manufactory, Thirty-sixth Street, Thirty-seventh Street, and Tenth Avenue, and at the well-known Wareroom, No. 738 Broadway; at either of which places he will be happy to meet customers for the transaction of new business or to settle up the affairs of the old firm.

Respectfully,

H. W. COLLENDER.

POND'S EXTRACT

HAMAMELIS, OR WITCH HAZEL,

The People's Remedy,

For Files, Sprains, Lameness, Burns, Scalds, Bruises, Soreness, Rheumatism. Boils, Ulcers, Catarrh, Wounds, etc. Also for Toothache, Headache, Neuralgia, Sore Throat, Hoarseness, Colic, Diarrhœa, and all Hemorrhages, &c.

RETAIL PRICES.—SMALL.....$0.50—cheap, because doses are small.
MEDIUM.....$1.00—worth $1.33; saving 33 cents.
LARGE.....$1.75—worth $2.67; saving 92 cents.

This popular remedy has now been before the country for more than a quarter of a century, during which, with very little advertising, it has firmly established itself in the confidence of the people; and in thousands of families has become as indispensable as flour or salt.

During this period its inherent merits have overcome the intense prejudice of physicians, and it is now daily prescribed and recommended by members of the Faculty, of all Schools—Allopathic, Homœopathic, Botanic, and Eclectic. Ask any of them about it. They will tell you that the medicinal virtues of WITCH HAZEL in an extraordinary range of action are indisputable, and that ours is simply the

BEST AND ONLY UNIFORM PREPARATION

from that shrub; that it is carefully made by experienced pharmacists, having the advantage of the perfect machinery required by an enormous business, from the best parts of the plant, judiciously selected at an exact and critical period of its growth. They will tell you that it is always the same, and always good; that it is not affected by change of climate or temperature; that its action is prompt and effectual; that it does not accumulate in the system, and ultimately manifest poisonous characteristics, but may be used freely, externally and internally, alone or in connection with other medicines,

WITHOUT THE SLIGHTEST DANGER.

Ask your druggist for one of the little books (bearing his address), with which we supply him free, for distribution among his patrons. If you are well, it may give you some Interesting and Useful Information; while to the ill it may be the Road to Health.

REMEMBER.—POND'S EXTRACT really has a very extensive range of action. It will promptly relieve any pain, and will effectually and permanently cure a greater number of the ills which an intelligent and prudent mother would trust herself to treat than any other preparation. It is, therefore,

AN INVALUABLE DOMESTIC REMEDY.

The 50c. Bottle is cheap, because the doses are small. The $1 Bottle is cheaper, worth $1.33, saving 33c. The $1.75 Bottle is cheapest, worth $2.67, saving 92c.
